

Social Security Taxes and Inflation

Events in Washington sometimes can be described only as defying belief. The latest case in point is the maneuvering within the Senate Finance Committee during the drafting of its recommendation for increases in Social Security benefits and taxes.

At one point last week, a committee majority had lined up behind a recommendation for a $6.1 billion increase in annual taxes to support Social Security. Such an increase would have compared with the $3.6 billion increase which was sent to the Senate late last week and the smaller increase which has passed the House.

What was the reason for the committee's original recommendation? Was it based on a judgment of what Social Security checks ought to be or on how much employees and their employers were able to pay in Social Security taxes? Not quite.

The fact was that the $6.1 billion in taxes and the proposed schedule for placing increased benefits into effect would have proposed more money than was needed. But Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana, committee chairman, explained that the big increase in Social Security taxes could become a replacement for President Johnson's stalled 10 per cent income surtax. Either one could do the same job on putting a damper on inflation. Sen. Long explained.

Now It's Kaleidoscope

Fox Cities young people are continuing to prove that they also have talents and energies which can be put to good use, a fact demonstrated by the recent opening of another coffeehouse in this area.

Kaukauna's "Kaleidoscope" is the latest in a series of youth-operated coffeehouses and recreation centers which have been established here in the past few years. The story of how the Kaukauna establishment has come into existence is one of initiative on the part of young people. In this case Kaukauna High School students. But it also involves the adults to whom the youths went for assistance and who are helping to make the project go.

The cooperation such a project creates between the younger and older generations is one of its less noticed but more important facets. The desire of today's

Tokyo's Imperial Hotel

One of the best known features of Tokyo's old Imperial Hotel, designed by Frank Lloyd Wright 46 years ago, has been that it was one of the few major structures that survived the devastating earthquake a couple of decades ago. But that isn't exactly the way Tetsuko Inamaru, current president of the Imperial Hotel, sees it today.

He told a press conference that "there are many faults with the old building, which we could not mention in public in those years — of course, it is against the code of business to make any defamatory remark about the merchandise . . . but it has now run down to a point where we can no longer be sure of the safety of our guests."

He warned that the hotel could not withstand another earthquake and explained that hotel employees had to block the entrances with sandbags in 1958

Looking Backward
U.S. Military Road Underway

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Nov. 16, 1867.

Speaking of the Military Road from Fort Howard via Shawano to Copper Harbour, the Green Bay Advocate has this to say:

"About 35 miles of this road north of Shawano have been completed, making upwards of 70 miles in all.

"The first 40 miles under Mr. Babcock's contract, eight miles between here and Shawano, and 32 beyond are now ready for acceptance, and the Commissioners will examine it this week.

"The work for this season is nearly suspended, and the contractor now is engaged in forwarding supplies for operations in the early spring. Large amounts of potatoes, oats, etc. have been taken and stored at a point 80 miles north of here for that purpose.

"All accounts concur in the statement that the road north of Shawano is as good as any new one in the West."

We are glad to be able to add that the great "Cut-Off" the State Road from Appleton to Shawano, by which 30 miles of railroad travel will be saved to the people up about the Shawano region — is progressing gloriously under the prudent management of the Outagamie Swamp Land Commissioners, and a good winter road is now assured. As soon as good sleighing comes, all supplies will naturally seek the Outagamie Road.

25 YEARS AGO
Wednesday, Nov. 11, 1942.

An Army cavalcade of 60 vehicles, troops and equipment, took part in morning

This revolutionary attitude toward what Social Security taxes are supposed to be paid for apparently had the agreement of Wilbur Cohen, undersecretary for Health, Education and Welfare, who was working with the committee. Enough heat from the folks back home over the size of the proposed Social Security tax increase caused the committee majority to retreat from its plan of fighting inflation with Social Security taxes.

As it is, the final committee recommendation is laced with politics. The increase in benefits would come next April as the election campaign is heating up. But the increase from 4.4 to 4.8 per cent in payroll taxes on employees and employers would not take place until 1969, the idea being that the increase should not be noticed until after next November's election.

It may be impossible to divorce politics from Social Security legislation, but the thinking which went into the Finance Committee's first recommendation is something to cause long-range concern. The President's surtax is stalled because the administration and Congress cannot agree on significant cuts in spending. That argument must be settled on its own merits.

The idea that raising Social Security taxes as some sort of end run around the problem should even be suggested was shocking.

youth to go "where the action is" is understandable and can be put to good use when employed in a way which is enjoyable and benefits society. But the best way to go where the action is often lies in cooperation with adults.

This does not mean that youth are not to test what their elders tell them, for each generation will have a slightly different outlook on life and will have to discover the truths of that life for itself. But adults have much which they can share with youth, even as the reverse is true. Thus it is that credit for "Kaleidoscope," as with many other youth ventures, should go not only to the teens themselves but also to their parents and older friends who stand in the background, resisting the temptation to "run" things and instead offering a helping hand when needed.

against flood waters. He said the floors have sunk, the pipes and wire services are inoperative "practically every time there is a flood or earthquake" and that it was even due to the floating foundation system engineered by Wright.

The fight over the Imperial Hotel is front page news in Tokyo. On the one hand are those who would preserve a landmark and on the other those who want a modern, functional structure. Inamaru has now raised the question of danger. He cannot sleep Christmas Eve, he explained, because people are crowded into the wooden banquet hall and there are no fire escapes.

The Society for the Preservation of the Imperial Hotel is studying ways of either moving the structure or reproducing it. But whatever the case may be for preservation, it appears certain that Japan's tremendous agitation for progress and modernization will mean the end of the Imperial Hotel.

Child's Playground Death Brings Ideas From Reader

Editor, Post-Crescent.

The death of a six-year-old boy in a fall from monkey bars in a Neenah school yard (Post-Crescent, Nov. 1, 1967) points up a serious blow in playground construction at that school and others in this area. Safety standards dictate the placement of apparatus of this type over sawdust at best, sand or grass at worst.

Small children like to climb, and they do fall from time to time. Their coordination is far from perfect. To place clum-bing apparatus over asphalt or concrete is to increase sharply the chances of serious injury or death to those using the equipment.

This, then, is an open letter to the school boards of the area served by this newspaper, asking that they take a close look at their elementary school playgrounds. Above all, they should eliminate the potential source of tragedy underlined by the death of this child.

Kraft Writes
Sen. McCarthy Noone's Patsy; Could be Formidable Candidate

BY JOSEPH KRAFT
WASHINGTON — "Being in politics is like being a football coach," Sen. Eugene McCarthy, the Minnesota Democrat who is rising to challenge the renomination of President Johnson, once said. "You have to be smart enough to understand the game, and dumb enough to think it's important."

No one has even doubted McCarthy was smart enough. He combines with great personal charm a mind of impressive breadth. He can range from the fine points of a tax bill to the wider realms of philosophic speculation. He is that rare thing in American politics — a Catholic intellectual.

But neither has anybody ever accused McCarthy of being over-serious. He is relaxed to the point of laziness and humorous to the point of cynicism. His challenge to the President, accordingly, has generated a kind of enigma here. Washington is wondering what has suddenly caused Gene McCarthy to exert himself.

nedly assassination and by sending Arthur Goldberg to the United Nations. Now he's trying to get everybody — the Senate, the cabinet, the United Nations — to carry the can for him on Vietnam."

Vietnam itself is not unimportant to McCarthy. "There are some things," he says, "that are just wrong — where you have to take a stand."

As an example he cites the anti-Communist marauding of the other McCarthy, Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin, twenty years ago. "I spoke out against Joe two weeks after he made his first big speech in 1948. I debated him on the air in 1952 when all the others were running away."

"Vietnam is wrong, too, wrong in a way that is

DOESN'T LIKE BEING USED
The clue, I think, lies in a curious personal trait — a heightened sensitivity to being made "expendable for others." McCarthy points out that he nominated Hubert Humphrey for vice president in 1956, and campaigned for him in the 1960 Wisconsin primary. He feels that in 1964 he was himself lured into contention for the vice presidency, and allowed to stay in contention, long after the President had fixed on Humphrey.

With respect to President Kennedy, McCarthy denies that he was bitter because he expected himself to be the first Catholic President. He also denies that he was secretly working for Lyndon Johnson against Kennedy in 1960. But he remembers back in the debate on the Landrum-Griffin bill that Kennedy let him take an exposed position and then backed away from it. Since then, he acknowledges, "I've had my guard up against the Kennedys."

The case against Lyndon Johnson, McCarthy believes, is that everything and everybody is expendable to him. "He ruined the Democratic National Committee by taking over the money-raising functions when he was leader of the Senate. He used the Supreme Court by making the chief justice chairman of the commission investigating the Ken-

Thanks P-C For Measles Clinic Help
Editor, Post-Crescent.

I would like to take this opportunity on behalf of the Neenah and Menasha health departments to thank you for your gracious cooperation in publicizing the measles immunization clinic Saturday, Nov. 11. Through your excellent publicity and coverage we were able to hold a highly successful immunization program and to immunize 2,278 children. We feel that we have prevented a serious and potentially fatal childhood disease in over 2,000 children and feel that the success was directly related to the excellent publicity provided by you.

Thank you again for your help and cooperation.

Wisconsin Report
Huber Lost His Cool In His Criticism of Capitol Press Corps

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON — Assemblyman Robert Huber of West Allis, speaker of the Assembly when the Democrats controlled that house and now floorleader of the Democratic minority there, is generally regarded as a responsible, levelheaded, conscientious and practical politician.

He is probably one of the best examples of the professional legislator, holding a safe seat, having no discernible ambitions for higher office, and having a pride and respect in his job and the public duty it represents. There was considerable surprise on the sidelines, therefore, when the veteran and sophisticated West Allis representative arose in the chamber the other day to deliver an angry and gratuitous attack upon the State Capitol press corps for what he called neglect of its duties in reporting the news of the legislative branch.

CLAIMS PRESS BIASED
Huber's indignation was occasioned, as he explained, by the failure of a majority of the accredited correspondents to attend the "hearing," as he called it, unofficially arranged by the Democrats to examine Gov. Knowles' supplemental school aids budget and its proposed method of financing. That default, he said, means that the statehouse press has a bias in favor of the administration and deliberately evades the job of communicating what Democrats are doing.

Since this reporter was among those who did not attend Mr. Huber's little extra-curricular affair, it is perhaps appropriate to offer a defense, or more accurately, an explanation of the news gathering process and the job of the reporter and his responsibility, among other things, to distinguish between press agency, however artful, and what is known as "hard" or legitimate news.

In the first place, "covering" the Legislature in all of its multitudinous phases, besides keeping watch on an ever growing state government officialdom, taxes the resources of every news bureau in the Capitol. In this office a dozen men could be employed full-time, if the goal was to write every conceivably interesting or even meaningful development in the state government and its political auxiliaries. But no publisher now in business could conceivably afford to produce such a prodigious output of matter.

FOLLOWS THE RULES
In the second place, the word "hearing" has a legal meaning in legislative parlance. It is an official hearing, held under the rules, with official record-keeping, and with effective action by a regularly established committee provided under those rules.

Mr. Huber's "hearing" was not a hearing in that sense. It was, plainly put, an effort to create favorable publicity for a point of view. There is nothing unprecedented about such devices. They occur every day. But it is the reporter's duty to use his judgement in apportioning his work day and to attend the official actions of government when he must make a choice.

Mr. Huber's hearing was not a formal proceeding in the sense that it was posted for public information, or that general witnesses were given notice of opportunities to appear. It was announced to the Capitol correspondents clearly as a publicity effort.

If the Assembly Democratic leader truly feels that his party's viewpoint is not being presented adequately in the public press, he might arrange for one of his school of journalism friends to assign a student to make an impartial study. That survey would almost surely find that there is no political group in Wisconsin, now or in the past, that is quite as energetic and prolific in the distribution of press releases as the Democratic Party.

If anybody in Wisconsin doesn't know that the Democrats have been accusing Knowles and the Republicans of fiscal trickery and irresponsibility during virtually every week of the prolonged 1967 legislative session, he is obviously not interested in the subject. Mr. Huber lost his cool, as some of his youthful advisers would put it.

What Others Are Saying
If You Want Something You Must Pay for It

From Joliet, Ill., Herald News.

Citizens eagerly await assessment results so they can have some idea just how large their tax bill will be. They worry what the assessment on their property will be and worry equally what the total assessment for the county will be.

They hope for a low figure on their own property and a big jump for the county total. They see this as adding up to the lowest possible tax bill for them personally.

While assessments and tax rates are put through a mathematical process and out comes your tax bill, neither really is the cause of the size of that tax statement.

It all goes back to the old adage, if you want something you have to pay for it.

The tax bill is the paying-for-it of all the things you want: your various governmental agencies to do. When the groups who survive off the property tax decide what they will spend in the next year, this is when your tax bill is really determined — not when the assessments are made.

The time to worry about how much tax you will have to pay is when the city, county, board of education and others start setting their budgets. If you are at the budget hearings, pleading for this service or that benefit, then don't be surprised when your tax bill goes up.

rate increases will not be as high as first thought.

But remember, it is still the spending that causes the problem. The tax rates and assessments are set up to try to let people pay a fair share of the cost of services provided.

Editor, Post-Crescent.

I am not a Hawk, a Dove, or a Communist; just an average American who desperately wishes for peace.

However, the photograph of the front page of Nov. 9 — screamed out of the terrible face of war.

I was shocked that the hand holding the gun to an old woman's head, belonged to an American soldier!! Have we come to this? I always thought this sort of behavior was more in keeping with "terrorist tactics" — or perhaps — Nazi Germany.

I'm sure a picture like that advances the cause of the "Doves" and the Communists — I just pray that it might help the cause of peace.

What Makes Stassen Run for Presidency?

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—If anyone has an incurable presidential itch, it's Harold Stassen. He's been scratching for years, and he is not through yet although most people thought he was years ago.

Hope for Stassen is like a rubber band. He's been stretching it all his life. From the exercise he got, you'd think he'd be in wonderful political condition. He's been running for something since he was 22. For a while he was so successful, back in the 1930s, he was called the "Boy Wonder" of American politics.

He's not a boy anymore. He's 60. But he never hung up his sweatshirt. He tried for the Republican presidential nomination in 1948, again in 1952 and in 1954. He never had a chance any of those times.

Keep in Shape
Meanwhile, maybe just to keep in shape for the big event later or because he was just anxious for something, he tried in 1958 for the governorship of Pennsylvania and in 1959 for the mayor's job in Philadelphia. He was drowned both times.

Tuesday he announced he would make another stab at the presidency in 1968.

Few men have outmatched his eagerness. William Jennings Bryan was a little more successful, at least in trying. He won the Democratic presidential nomination three times—1896, 1900 and 1908—only to lose in the elections.

But those two would-be presidents, Stassen and Bryan, not only couldn't hold a candle to Norman Thomas, they couldn't hold a match to him although Thomas, who got the Socialist party's presidential nomination six times, was different from Stassen and Bryan.

He almost certainly knew from the beginning that in all the times he ran a Socialist had no chance. He must have been running for the principle of the thing.

Out of Public
About the time Stassen was announcing, Thomas, at 83, was hospitalized Tuesday with a slight stroke. Two weeks ago he said he was withdrawing from public light but was skeptical he had made his last speech.

As if to prove it, he made a speech Saturday and was stricken shortly afterward.

But all this doesn't answer the question: What makes Harold run? Maybe he doesn't know himself. He has an explanation, though. He said Tuesday he wants to give voters a wider choice.

He said he will be a "peace" candidate, referring to the war in Vietnam. When he announced his candidacy in 1963 he said, "I should like to see the Republican Party take the lead in trying to modernize the United Nations."

In this year's August edition of Esquire magazine, when he said, "I don't rule out the 1968 nomination" for himself, he gave this view:

"I Want Peace"
"I want a progressive Republican party. I want a strong United Nations. I want peace in Vietnam."

But he doesn't always stick to the same time. Early in 1952 he said he was the most likely compromise candidate if a deadlock for the nomination developed between Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft. In May 1952, he was saying Gov. Earl Warren of California was a likely compromise candidate.

But his worst political boo-boo came in 1956 when he was in the Eisenhower administration and suddenly told a news conference, in an effort to block the renomination that year of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, that his own private polls showed Nixon would be a handicap to the re-election of President Eisenhower.

He suggested Christian A. Herter, governor of Massachusetts, as Eisenhower's running mate. Herter called Stassen's performance comic opera. Herter nominated Nixon. Stassen, after a brief talk with Eisenhower, seconded it.

Police to Release Jewels, Furs of Marilyn Monroe
NEW YORK (AP)—Jewelry can foreign policy and its sending of 2,000 troops to Vietnam were not at issue in the campaign's property clerk's office next week.

Marcos' Party Gaining Ground in Philippines

Bloody Elections End With Edge For Nacionalistas

MANILA (AP)—The Nacionalista Party of President Ferdinand E. Marcos gained ground today as returns mounted from nationwide Philippine elections for senators, governors and municipal officials.

In the key race for eight senate seats, the Nacionalistas had six candidates in the lead, along with one opposition Liberal and one independent.

Liberal Benigno Aquino, 34-year-old ex-governor who is one of Marcos' bitterest critics, led the senatorial pack by close to 50,000 votes.

The Nacionalistas had fought for at least six of the senatorial posts to assure them firm control of the 24-member Upper House. Marcos needs to control the senate to insure passage of domestic legislation on which he hopes to base his campaign for re-election in 1969.

Sketchy Reports
First sketchy reports from 45 of the country's 65 provinces said Nacionalista candidates were leading in 32 governorship contests, while the Liberals were ahead in 10 and independents in three.

Marcos' brother-in-law, Benjamin "Kokoy" Romualdez, onetime special ambassador to Washington, had a 4,000-vote margin in the race for governor of Leyte.

Although violence is traditional in Philippine politics, the campaign and the voting were among the bloodiest in the country's history. The national police reported a total of 60 killed and 83 wounded, but the Philippine News Service reported 107 killed and 117 wounded.

The government's pro-American foreign policy and its sending of 2,000 troops to Vietnam were not at issue in the campaign.

Marcos and his party suffered a setback in Manila when the president's handpicked mayoral candidate, Pablo Ocampo, was defeated by 50,000 votes by incumbent Mayor Antonio Villarosa.

Elliot Lefkowitz, the film star's attorney, said Tuesday first, sought to kick American and other alien retailers out of and then after the final account-business in Manila earlier this year but was blocked by Marcos and the Supreme Court. The so stipulated.

The jewelry includes diamond during the campaign, but he is pins, earrings, rings and gold likely to revive it during his new four-year term.

Puerto Rican Economy Matter of Viewpoint

BY SYLVIA PORTER

SAN JUAN — Puerto Rico is exposed to aspects of this dilemma now struggling with a critically important, multimillion dollar version of the question 'Is the glass half empty or half full?' I listened to a businessman boast of how efficient his Puerto Rico labor force had become under the U. S. flag situated 1,500 miles southeast of New York in the Caribbean, emphasize to you and me? Should it boast of how much economic-political-social progress it has made in the past 20 years under 'Operation Bootstrap' so that it can impress us with its prosperity, lure more deluxe tourists, attract more private investors and their families to settle here? Or should it minimize its gains so that it can avoid the risk of being dubbed a tax-free haven for greedy U. S. corporations and be sure it doesn't lose out on congressional measures to assist impoverished areas? Is the glass half empty or half full?

Several times during my visits with political and business leaders of Puerto Rico, I was exposed to aspects of this dilemma. At one luncheon, for instance, I listened to a businessman boast of how efficient his Puerto Rico labor force had become under the U. S. flag situated 1,500 miles southeast of New York in the Caribbean, emphasize to you and me? Should it boast of how much economic-political-social progress it has made in the past 20 years under 'Operation Bootstrap' so that it can impress us with its prosperity, lure more deluxe tourists, attract more private investors and their families to settle here? Or should it minimize its gains so that it can avoid the risk of being dubbed a tax-free haven for greedy U. S. corporations and be sure it doesn't lose out on congressional measures to assist impoverished areas? Is the glass half empty or half full?

Youngsters Wear Earphones as they ride in Mr. Ed, the talking school bus designed to entertain and educate children during long rides. (AP Wirephoto)

School Bus' Talk Occupies Children

GUNNISON, Colo. (AP) — Mr. Ed is a talking school bus, and after more than a month on the job, students and teachers alike are listening to what he has to say.

If he keeps his job — and it appears that he will — talking buses may crop up throughout the country where educational leaders are watching progress of the project.

Mr. Ed is a brain-storm of a teachers group here, aimed at providing educational or, failing that, entertaining diversion for students as they are carried to and from school.

Some of the 54 students taking part in the experiment spend as much as two hours daily on the bus, making the 32-mile trip between home and school.

Now, as an alternate to the rowdy jostling that has dismayed bus drivers since bus driving began, students can don earphones and tune in on any one of seven tape recordings, or a radio station.

What they hear on the tapes might be the story of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, for the first-grade set, or the story of John H. Glenn Jr.'s flight into space, or a comedy monologue for the older students. Or, in the case of many teen-age students, rock 'n' roll music on the radio gets the nod.

Project leaders are watching for changes in behavior, interest and attitude by the students.

Each student may choose from the seven available tapes or the radio channel, piped into the earphones at his seat. There are tapes especially designed for the first four grades, others for grades five through eight and still others for high school students.

The tapes are changed twice daily, so students don't have to hear going home what they heard coming to school. Length varies from 15 to 35 minutes. Each Monday they get a program for the week, and can make plans to catch tapes that might be pertinent to classroom discussion. On the average, about two-thirds of the earphones are in use at all times, Raine said.

Later in the school year, Mr. Ed will switch to other routes to see if interest patterns are similar in students of different economic and cultural backgrounds.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 15, the 319th day of 1967. There are 46 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1777, the Continental Congress approved the Articles of Confederation and the country's governing document until the Constitution went into effect.

On this date:

In 1492, Christopher Columbus noted in his journal the use of tobacco among the Indians. It was the first recorded reference to tobacco.

In 1806, Pike's Peak in Colorado was discovered by the explorer Zebulon Montgomery Pike.

In 1935, Manuel Quezon was inaugurated as the first president of the Philippines' Commonwealth.

In 1948, William L. Mackenzie King retired as prime minister of Canada after serving more than 21 years.

Ten years ago—The U.S. Air Force announced that a missile launched from Cape Canaveral (now Cape Kennedy), Fla. had delivered a simulated hydrogen warhead on target, 5,000 miles away with unprecedented accuracy.

One year ago—The U.S. Gemini 12 space craft splashed down southeast of Cape Kennedy after four days in space. The two astronauts were in good shape.

Jury Awards $2,750 to Gunshot Victim

Kimberly Man Sought $50,000 After Shooting

After hearing a day of testimony, a Circuit Court jury Tuesday awarded a Kimberly man $2,750 for injuries he suffered when he was accidentally shot in the neck by an Appleton woman Sept. 26, 1964.

In addition to the jury award, Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell ruled that Martin Wydeven III, 23, was entitled to $2,365 for hospital, medical, and incidental expenses, and $2,063 for loss of earnings.

The jury of eight women and four men ruled that Susan Schinke Nelson, 21, 720 S. Telulah Ave., Appleton, was negligent in the handling of a .22 caliber revolver in causing injury to Wydeven.

Wydeven was shot in the neck with a single bullet fired by the Appleton woman. He contended that he suffered permanent and disabling injury to his neck, right shoulder, right arm, and right hand.

Pulled Trigger
Wydeven maintained that Mrs. Nelson was negligent in that she pointed the loaded revolver at him and pulled the trigger without first inspecting the gun to see if it was loaded. According to the court complaint, Wydeven sought $50,000.

The shooting incident occurred about 5:30 p.m. Sept. 26 in a third floor downtown Appleton apartment occupied by Mrs. Nelson's cousin. The woman, who was not married at the time, was handling her cousin's revolver. Wydeven was hospitalized about two weeks.

Jurors, who deliberated 1½ hours, included Marjorie Cotton, 2324 N. Clark St.; Mrs. Earl Fraser, 243 River Drive; Mrs. Harold Abrahamson, 230 W. Lindbergh St.; and Thomas Neuman, 336 E. Pershing St., all of Appleton; Carl Brandt, Mrs. Ora Wunderlich, Mrs. Rose Kreul, and Mrs. Edward Fulcer, all of Hortonville; William Blenland, 420 W. Ninth St.; and William Perkins, Medina and Mrs. Frank Vanden Heuvel, route 3, Seymour.

Supper Club Fights Interchange Project

Highway Official Says Injunction Won't Hold Up Pine Street Job

Leroy W. Empey, district engineer for the State Highway Commission, said this morning that a Circuit Court temporary order halting a small segment of road construction at U. S. 41 and Pine Street, in front of Nino's Steak Roundup, "won't have the slightest effect" on major interchange work in the area.

Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell signed a temporary restraining order Tuesday afternoon against the State Highway Commission and Courtney and Plummer, Inc., an Appleton construction firm. The court writ was sought by John Santner, manager of the Town of Grand Chute supper club.

Judge Parnell ordered the state agency and the construction firm to appear before County Judge Raymond P. Dohr, who would act as Circuit judge, Monday at 1:30 p.m. to show cause why an injunction should not be granted restraining the defendants from interfering with the Pine Street-U.S. 41 intersection.

Stop Excavating
Judge Parnell ordered that until hearing on the motion, the state and Courtney and Plummer "absolutely desist and refrain from excavating and or blocking Pine Street at the intersection with U. S. 41," and further, that if there has been any excavating or blocking, the

Cuts, Fractures Hospitalize Four In U. S. 10 Crash

Four persons were hospitalized following a two-car accident about noon Tuesday on U.S. 10, a mile west of Appleton.

Taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by ambulances were Elsie Young, 1424 E. Northland Ave., Appleton, driver of one car, with a fractured wrist; her passenger, Esther Haberly, Long Beach, Calif., with a broken leg and fractured ribs; James E. Keegan, 44, Chicago, driver of the second auto, with face lacerations; and his passenger, Carl A. Betz, 37, Waukesha, with facial cuts and fractured ribs.

The accident occurred, according to Outagamie County police, when the eastbound Young car made a left turn in front of the westbound Keegan auto. Police estimated damage at $2,000.

Mosquito Hill Tour Supervisors Return to Nature To View Potential Park Land

About 25 Outagamie County supervisors returned to nature Tuesday, tramping high and low to see for themselves whether Mosquito Hill holds the potential for park development.

The unusual inspection tour resulted from the controversy which developed over the committee seeking to obtain purchase options on some of the parcels of land.

Raymond Kamps, owner of 39 acres of land and a new home, had appeared before the county board last Thursday to indicate he would not sell his land on the hill under any circumstances.

Request Disapproved
The request from the parks committee to have $75,000 placed in the 1968 budget for acquisition of property was disapproved and the board decided they wanted to look at Kamps' property and the other 424 acres which comprise the proposed purchase package.

A cc companying supervisors was Dr. Jacob Shapiro, head of the Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh biology department and a noted ecologist. Dr. Shapiro urged the hill be preserved for future generations to enjoy.

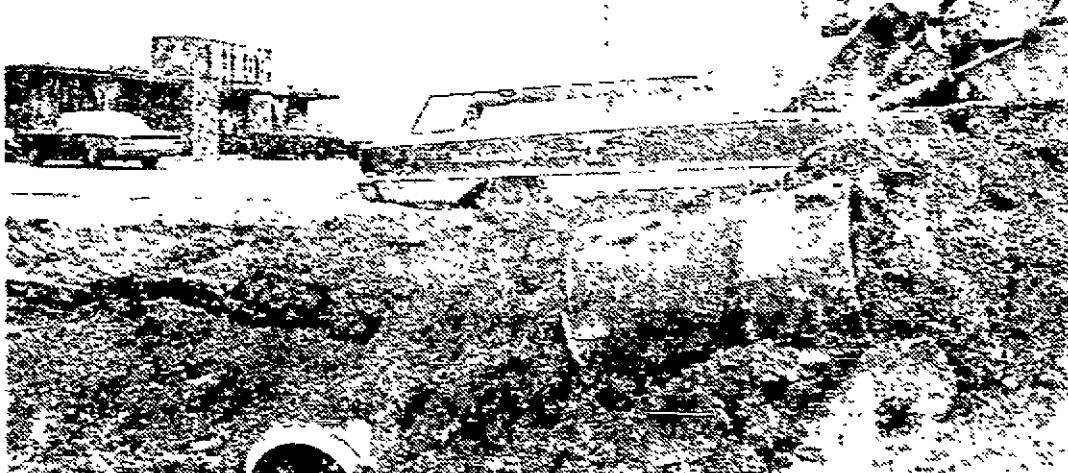

He said that areas offering the advantages of Mosquito Hill one of the boys was found in an are were scarce in this part of the state and it was important they be preserved.

Reversal Noted
Dr. Shapiro added that a reversal has taken place in our society; where it once was predominately rural it is now necessary to bus children from the cities to the country to show them nature.

After climbing the hill area access be restored immediately to "safe and usable condition."

The Pine Street-U.S. 41 area is on the southern fringe of a major interchange construction project at U. S. 41 and State 125. Santner, in the complaint to

No Criminal Charges Contemplated Schmidt Death Still a Mystery

No criminal charges are contemplated in the near future in the George A. Schmidt death case, Outagamie County Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer said Tuesday afternoon.

Schaefer and other authorities indicated at a news conference that the latest report from the State Crime Laboratory furnished few, if any, leads as to how the 82-year-old retired Appleton contractor died in his house at 319 N. Division St. "on or about Sept. 22."

His body was found in pieces of the findings in the report, he issued a death certificate on a six-block area around his home the week of Sept. 25.

Schaefer, Coroner Bernard H. cremated at Sheboygan last Kamps, Police Chief Earl O. month. Kamps listed the cause of death as "undetermined."

Release Certificate
Kamps said that "small amounts of lead and arsenic" were found in Schmidt's body tissues, but the amounts were not enough to cause death.

Authorities said that although "there are no plans for further, direct, immediate investigation" into the strange case of the dismembered body.

Tax Sharing, Government Changes Needed, Tarr Says

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Sweeping changes are needed in Wisconsin shared-tax formulas and local government structures but the "how and when" task force study discloses some remain unknown factors, Dr. Curtis Tarr indicated here Tuesday noon.

Tarr, president of Lawrence University and head of the legislative panel probing the state's fiscal and governmental format, spoke to the Appleton Rotary Club.

It was the first time Tarr has talked in detail on findings of the Tarr Task Force which is to report back to the Wisconsin Legislature by Jan. 1, 1969.

Personal Observations
Among his personal observations, were that:

—Some levels of government can be eliminated or consolidated with others, with the county playing a more active role.

—The county treasurer should be the main tax collector, probably eliminating the need for municipal treasurers.

—Over the years town lines have eroded, and the original purpose of that unit of government may be questionable now, with some being urban and other rural in makeup.

—There is an overlapping of taxing units in Wisconsin on the local level — 1,837 assessment districts to be exact.

—Need exists to change the assessment policies of communities so properties are assessed at full value instead of various percentages, thus providing uniformity.

Suggest Training
—Assessors should be trained, full-time employees, and much larger districts could be created, resulting in the elimination of assessors on town and other levels.

—Laws giving certain properties and organizations tax-exempt status in Wisconsin require re-evaluation.

When it comes to state-shared taxes, the more populated areas in Wisconsin are supporting those with small population but more area. While the logical course would be to take aids away from some and distribute more to others, it is a political decision that legislators appear more than hesitant to make.

Tarr emphasized there are no easy solutions, adding that "problems are mounting where populations are increasing."

Tarr touched on many subjects during his 30-minute talk and put into perspective many thorny and perplexing problems Too Many Units
His remarks on county government could be interpreted that there are too many units and consolidation might be in order, which state law has permitted for years. Dr. Tarr

Municipalities vs. VTE-12 Plan New Tax Protest

A special meeting of city, county district is $1.9 million; the vocational district, about 25 village and town officials from this year, including $376,478 communities were represented. Before they appointed a committee headed by Jacobs to meet with the board to seek out a compromise, many officials advocated holding back payment of the levies.

Wire Works
Employe Dies At Plant
Clifford A. Stammer, 65, 528 N. State St., died suddenly about 10 p.m. Tuesday while at work at Wisconsin Wire Works where he was a weaving supervisor.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said that Stammer died of an acute heart attack. Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Friday at the Wichmann Funeral Home.

The Appleton Fire Department rescue squad administered oxygen to Stammer, who was found lying on an office floor, then took him to Appleton Memorial Hospital, where he was pronounced dead. Stammer worked at the firm nearly 30 years.

Meet Tuesday
Jacobs conferred with Appleton Mayor George Buckley this morning and said the meeting of Outagamie, Calumet, Waupaca and Winnebago county officials of various government levels is tentatively set for Tuesday.

Buckley fired strong criticism at the vocational board Tuesday when hearing of its action.

Six of the inductees are from Appleton. They are Michael S. Soddall, 727 W. Prospect Ave.; Gregory G. Hayes, 1307 E. Glendale Ave.; Stephen R. M. Haupt, 1235 W. Lora St.; Roy L. Whiteley, 1156 Jardin Court; Thomas J. Polakowski, 1424 Graceland Ave.; and Gerald D. Smith, route 1.

Also inducted this month were Richard J. Miller, 343 Pine St.; and John N. Gossens, 442 N. Main St., both of Kimberly.

Offered as Site Counties to Air UMW Center Future

Outagamie and Winnebago counties will meet Thursday afternoon to discuss the future of the Fox Valley Center for Vocational Technical Education, a center operated by Outagamie County.

The Fox Valley Center is located on a 100-acre site in Appleton, where it was founded in 1964. The center is currently housed in a building owned by Outagamie County.

Outagamie County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler said a center meeting was tentatively being scheduled at a place still to be determined.

Esler and Supvs. Russell DeLa Hunte, Kaukauna, and G. Allen Bobbey, Appleton, the two Outagamie County representatives for the VTE-12 center, will probably represent Outagamie County. The Winnebago County representatives are Owen King, Oshkosh, and Oliver Timmons, Neenah, and Winnebago County Board Chairman

W. J. Schkosh, will represent Winnebago County. No details have been released as to how the transaction would take place and VTE-12 officials have not indicated whether they would move the center, being located to VTE-12 for a vocational use.

Teacher Union Appeal Dismissed by Judge

Group Representing Minority of Instructors Had Asked Time Off to Attend Conventions

A complaint against the Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission (WERC) for upholding the school board's policy of denying the teachers union appeal was dismissed by Judge Orton of the Circuit Court at Madison. The teachers union appealed the ruling which was handed down by Circuit Judge Richard W. Orton of Lancaster, called in to hear the multi-action case. Judge Orton's decision was given after oral arguments and briefs were presented Monday by City Atty. David Geenen on behalf of Appleton, and others involved in the litigation, started by the Wisconsin Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO).

Convention Dispute

The dispute arose out of the school board's policy last year of granting the members of the Appleton Teachers Association, which is affiliated with the Wisconsin Education Association (WEA), permission to attend the state convention. Schools were closed and teachers paid. Members of the Appleton Teachers Union (ATU) asked for the same procedure for the

Labor Leader Urges Valley To Avoid Racial Problems

State AFL-CIO President Says Assure Rights Before Need Arises

BY CLIFF MILLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEENAH - MENASHA — The president of the Wisconsin State AFL-CIO declared here Tuesday night that the "good people" in the Fox River Valley should act now to avoid racial problems before racial minorities come in numbers to this area.

Defending the movement for civil rights as little different in aims or methods from the labor movement of the 1930s, John W. Schmitt told Valley labor and human rights leaders the opportunity will never be better than today to assure smooth racial relations in the future.

Solutions are "much easier to find today," for potential racial and poverty difficulties "than when they are before you," Schmitt declared. Later he added, "You in the Fox River Valley have a real opportunity because as I said earlier, the problem isn't here."

I will arrive, however, said Schmitt, who is a Milwaukeean.

One way he suggested to make the arrival of minority groups here relatively painless was for local industries to ask organizations such as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People or the Urban League to recommend unemployed Milwaukee Negro tradesmen to fill positions in plants here.

Blaming racial myths for often making it difficult for minority races to gain acceptance among whites, Schmitt said prejudices could be broken down by such advance, selective Peter Rothe and John Stenz. Pat recruitment of Negroes to the Abraham, Holly Zwicker, Dave Hackbert, Maureen McDonough. He admitted if such an attempt were made, it might be difficult to find housing, but he added, "It would be easier to do school ticket office between 9 with one two, three or four who a.m. and 3 p.m. and are also ought to be advance salesmen" available from cast members, for their race and to help disprove the myths. Schmitt appeared in a program jointly sponsored by the Fox Valley Human Rights Council and local labor organizations, and held in the Neenah-Menasha Labor Temple.

He repeatedly hit on the theme that today's movements for racial equality are similar in many ways to the labor movement of the first one-third of this century. Schmitt generally endorsed the rights cause while declaring Negro and white extremist groups "both wrong."

He added that labor unions today, though often "blinded" by their own affluence, are probably the best equipped organizations to help solve the related problems of poverty and racial inequality.

"If anybody ought to understand the problems of the American Negro it ought to be the American trade-labor movement," he declared. Schmitt urged union leaders to "take an unpopular position" to guide the members of their unions toward sympathy with the civil rights movement.

Schmitt said the trade-labor movement could be useful in helping provide education and jobs, which he said are the major tools in overcoming problems of race and poverty. Motivation, he said, is another necessary factor, to encourage Negroes to seek education and jobs.

He mentioned open housing laws as an example of motivation, but denied such laws would solve the problems of Milwaukee, where Negroes have been demonstrating in favor of open housing for weeks.

Man Sentenced To Prison on Morals Charge

Vernon H. Ferron, 33, route 2, West DePere, this morning was sentenced to an indeterminate term of not more than three years in the state prison at Waupun after he pleaded guilty to an amended charge of having intercourse with a minor.

The sentence was imposed by Outagamie County Judge Raymond P. Dohr, who heard the case after an affidavit of prejudice was filed against Judge, Gustave J. Keller.

Outagamie County sheriff's investigators said that the of Appleton Action Committee, will fence occurred July 1 in the explain the work of the newest Town of Oneida, and involved a of the United Givers agencies. Vocational Funds Examined

NEENAH - MENASHA — intact, instead of dropping $500,000 for capital improvements in to further study the 1968 budget favor of a bond issue. A special for the new vocational district six-man committee had recom-mended last Thursday that the with Appleton Mayor George escrow fund for the new struc-ture be eliminated and that bond-issues be sold for the central Buckley said Tuesday he would ask the Appleton council to hold back the entire VTE-12 municipal budget. He threatened to test the case in court.

The VTE-12 board voted unanimously to keep the budget, but the chairman of the commit-tee is Town Clerk Robert Jaceived partial assurance from members of VTE-12 that they would bond for $500,000 instead of including the money in bud-gets in the coming years.

Mayor Kenneth Holmes of Menasha declined this morning to make a "hasty" or "selfish" decision on the possibility of Menasha participation in any court action.

On one hand, Holmes pointed out, Menasha is experiencing one of the smaller percentage increases in its vocational tax levy for next year, under the budget approved by the VTE-12 board. For that reason, the city might have little reason to seek a reduction, he said.

But in what he termed the "broad view," Holmes recalled, the spirit of cooperation that has developed between Menasha and Appleton recently. He cited the joint meeting last spring be-tween the Menasha, Appleton and Neenah city councils.

Holmes said he thought the common council should confer on the matter if the city were called upon to decide whether it should join any legal action begun by Appleton.

Neenah Mayor Carl Loehning was not available for comment this morning and Ald. Peter Fara, council president, said the aldermen had not conferred on the city's next move.

Appleton faces the largest jump in vocational expenses as the new budget called for a levy of $376,478, compared to $30,000 this year.

Neenah will have to pay $192,000 instead of $78,000.

Blame Shared for Color Bars to Apprenticeship

NEENAH - MENASHA — If apprenticeship writes rules for the Negroes are barred from ap-prenticeship programs, and could change them to admit more blame is shared by state offi-cials, employers and educators.

Schmitt charged Fagan was throwing up a "smokescreen" that would confuse persons un-familiar with the programs.

The labor leader, while admit-ting such discrimination does exist in some union locals, said the employers also share responsi-bility for determining who is eligi-ble.

Joseph Fagan, head of the newly created state agency, said in a recent speech to a local service club that labor unions seem to "systematically ex-clude" Negro youths from ap-prenticeship training. Fagan had softened his remarks by adding he sympathized with union lead-ers, who run up against stiff resistance from members if they advocate changes.

John W. Schmitt, Milwaukee, state AFL-CIO president, reitort-ed during a speech on labor and racial problems Tuesday night, that the blame lies with Fagan's encourage such efforts among department. Schmitt said the Milwaukee Inner Core educa-department's bureau of appren-ticeship.

The employers must agree to pay the costs of training, he said.

Lack Education

Schmitt added that another reason few Negroes enter ap-prenticeship programs is be-cause they lack the educational background to pass the entry tests.

He said high school guidance counselors should advise stu-dents of the types of skills — mathematics, for example — that are needed to pass appren-ticeship exams. Fagan could that the blame lies with Fagan's encourage such efforts among department. Schmitt said the Milwaukee Inner Core educa-department's bureau of appren-ticeship.

Kimberly May Have Lower School Taxes

Board Votes to Reduce Levy if Aids Increase

KIMBERLY — The board of education Monday night voted to reduce the tax levy for school purposes if a proposed bill to increase state education aids is passed by the State Senate and Legislature.

Amount of the reduction will be in proportion to the additional aids received, according to Ray H a m a n n , superintendent of schools. Since the district is on equalized aids, the amount of increased aids would not make a significant change in outside revenues, board members said.

Approval was given to setting up an advisory committee to keep the school board and district citizens informed of actions and plans for the District 12 Vocational, Technical and Adult Education School. The committee will include a village board member from Kimberly and Combined Locks, a representative from the rural area, a school board member, an employer, an employee and the superintendent of schools.

Individual Instruction

Discussion was held on the individualized instruction program being contemplated in the new west side elementary school. Board members recently visited a school in Minneapolis where the individualized instruction program is in use and aids reported it was proving highly successful both for the students and teachers.

Members voted to grant the Quarterback Club use of school facilities for meetings. The club is being organized to help promote interest in high school athletics in the district.

Hire Teacher

Eugene Gehl, a Hilbert native and graduate of Kaukauna High School, was signed as an industrial arts teacher for the second semester after completing studies at Stout State University. He replaces the late Ansel Anderson.

Two teacher aids were hired for the high school, one to assist in the science department and the second to handle a study planned. Aides are Mrs. Karen Justeson and Mrs. Mary Schwarzw.

'Deer Hunter' Services Planned by Lutherans

All Kaukauna Area Schools To be Included in New Date

KAUKAUNA — Public transportation of all parochial school students will begin Jan. 1, instead of Sept. 11 as originally planned, the school board decided Tuesday.

Shepherd and Faith Lutheran churches.

Good Shepherd will have a 6:30 p.m. service Thursday and Faith at 7 p.m. Saturday.

School. Little Chute, would not get transportation until September.

Vandenbroek citizens with children attending St. John School would be helping to pay transportation costs for children in the township attending Holy Cross, he said. He felt this would cause complaints of unfair treatment.

Thomas Nytes, business manager, reported that 47 high school and elementary students were enrolled at St. John; 28, Fox Valley Lutheran High; 27, Holy Angels at Darboy, and 2, Mount Calvary Lutheran, Kimberly.

Cost Breakdown

He explained the cost of transporting students living within a 3-mile radius of the school and its effect on the school budget.

The request of a private citizen who transports students to Plamann Park School for added remuneration was referred to the next board meeting.

Report Says Humane Society Sheltered 1,252 Animals

The Outagamie County Humane Society provided refuge for 1252 homeless animals from April 15 to Nov. 1, a board meeting report indicated recently.

The report stated also that 17 cruelty cases were investigated, besides numerous complaints of strays and missing animals during the same period.

The meeting was at Society President Fred Heinemann's home at 217 Green Bay Road. Heinemann, president since 1958, told the board he will retire Dec. 31.

Summer projects included purchasing a station wagon to be used for the animal shelter managers' pick-ups and the installation of a power ventilating system at the shelter located in Mackville. The Winnegamie Dog Club paid for most of the expense of the system by a donation last spring.

The board discussed shelter repairs and improvements and voted a $50 monthly pay boost for the manager.

United Democrats Kill Antipoverty Cutbacks

House Leaders Hope Coalition Lasts for Vote

By JOHN BECKLER WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats, in a rare display of unity, have turned back every Republican attempt to cut down or alter the administration's $2.06 billion antipoverty bill.

House leaders hoped to hold together today the coalition of Northern and Southern Democrats long enough to clear the final hurdle and pass the bill. In a series of votes Tuesday Democrats formed a solid phalanx against GOP amendments designed to revise the bill as it came to the floor from the Education and Labor Committee.

On a key proposal to strike from the committee bill a provision putting Community Action agencies under state or local control the Republicans were crushed 205 to 111. On all votes, individual members were counted but not recorded.

More Amendments Several more amendments remain to be acted on before the bill faced a final vote.

The last big worry for the bill's backers is a motion made available to Republicans just before the vote on passage is called for.

If the GOP were to decide to ask for a cut in the $2.06 billion authorization at that point, it was thought likely to pick up enough Southern Democratic support to pass, since the Southern Democrats have not had to go on record so far — then would have to be publicly recorded.

But an outpouring of support for the program from Republican mayors and governors in urban states has alarmed some Republicans who feel further opposition on their part could damage the party.

GOP proposals defeated Tuesday included proposals to change the Job Corps, Neighborhood Youth Corps and other work and training programs now administered by the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Little Support Only a handful of Southern Democrats among the sizable number who normally support Republican proposals voted with the GOP.

And not a single one joined the Republicans in an effort to strip from the bill the provision putting Community Action agencies under the control of public officials. The provision, written into the bill in committee, was largely devised to win Southern support for the bill.

The long fight over the antipoverty bill has kept the OEO from getting new funds for fiscal 1968 and an economy fight between the House and Senate has blocked approval of a resolution continuing the agency's present spending authority.

A bid Tuesday in the Senate to get a continuing resolution that would run through Nov. 30 attached to a military construction bill failed to muster the two-thirds majority required.

Ghosts Blamed for Missing Skeleton

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 5-foot-6 skeleton and its glass case are missing from the science classroom closet at Banning High School, faculty members discovered Tuesday. They also told police a window in the room had been smashed Oct. 31 — the night when ghosts prowled.

Alderman Robert J. Lindgren, head of the judiciary committee, said "We'll endorse state-wide legislation, but we'll probably never endorse a citywide ordinance going beyond the state's."

The current state law prohibiting racial discrimination in sale or rental of housing, exempts owner-occupied dwellings or buildings with four or fewer living units.

Under a bill now pending in the Assembly, the exemptions would be removed over the next two years.

Aiken Raps Proposed European Jaunt During Legislative Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George D. Aiken has criticized a scheduled government-financed trip to Europe by 20 Senate and House members, saying they'll leave behind a congressional snarl over funding the antipoverty program.

"It's just as important that some of these poor people get something for Thanksgiving as it is for these people to get a good trip to Europe," the Vermont Republican told the Senate Tuesday.

Aiken's comments came after the Senate refused to take up a measure which would have provided emergency financing for the Office of Economic Opportunity, which runs the antipoverty program.

No Funds As matters now stand, the OEO has not received its appropriation for the current year, probably won't get it until next month, and lacks authority to spend money. Agency employees aren't even guaranteed they'll be paid for work they're now performing.

As the Senate debated the measure, Aiken complained that amid the dispute over budget-cutting, a congressional delegation is flying to Europe next week to attend the meeting of North Atlantic Treaty Organization parliamentarians.

He said the party might be as large as 70, including members, aides and wives.

No Wisconsin Congressmen are scheduled for the trip.

"It appeared to me that it might be just as well for some of these people working in the Office of Economic Opportunity to get their paychecks," he said in an interview later.

NATO Meeting Eleven senators and nine House members are listed as congressional delegates to the NATO meeting in Brussels, Belgium.

There was some question whether all would attend, with Iowa Burial will be at Cedar Congress still in session. The Rapids

"Law enforcement is his hobby," said Grant.

Japanese Commercialism Is Impressive National Trait

Post-Crescent Associate Editor

TOKYO — There have been comments from some members of the Wisconsin Trade Mission to the Far East that the English papers in Tokyo have barely noted the arrival of the mission. The truth is that the Wisconsin delegation is one of many which turn up in Japan every week. And there is good reason.

Japan is a nation almost obsessed by the matter of economics.

The tourist is encouraged on all sides to buy. There are special tax free provisions whereby foreigners may buy locally produced goods without the 5 per cent to 15 per cent tax which the Japanese must pay. All one must do upon leaving the country is prove that the goods also leave.

Department stores, the hub of shopping, are listed on almost all available maps along with important shrines, government headquarters and the Imperial Palace. Tour buses head for the Ginza shopping areas as much a part of any tour as scenic areas or historical spots. In fact it appears that tours inevitably end up in the Ginza once more to show the passengers the neon lights at night or the variety of shops by day. Since the Ginza is jam-packed with Japanese shoppers anytime the stores are open, it would hardly seem necessary to promote it.

There is no shyness about commercialism but there is an honesty, too, that is refreshing. Tour guides warn of unreliable places and how expensive night life may be but they readily recommend reputable shopping about 3:30 a.m. Nov. 10 and joined most members of the trade mission out of bed. Mr. and Mrs. Vic Sumnicht of Appleton dressed and went down to the lobby but the rest decided to wait it out. The jolt lasted people as a whole are commercially minded, the individuals are not. At least in the areas we have visited, there are no hands held out for tips, no pressing to buy, no haggling.

Currently a trade delegation from the Netherlands is in Tokyo along with the Wisconsin mission. It may be that the prestige of Governor Knowles' presence will be needed for protocol reasons in other countries. But formal as are the Japanese, they separate their trade and government activities. In fact the Japanese have a professed policy of such separation as recently indicated by the resignation of Seichi Tagawa from the post of parliamentary health and welfare minister because he is going to visit Peking for trade and other nonpolitical talks.

A "sharp" quake hit the area about 3:30 a.m. Nov. 10 and joined most members of the trade mission out of bed. Mr. and Mrs. Vic Sumnicht of Appleton dressed and went down to the lobby but the rest decided to wait it out. The jolt lasted

Kaukauna Will Ask County to Help Maintain Grignon Home

KAUKAUNA — The health and recreation committee of the common council voted to request Outagamie County to appropriate $1,800 annually for the maintenance of the Grignon Home.

The historical home is being refurbished, a project undertaken several years ago by a committee of interested citizens. Limited funds, made available through the city, have made it possible to improve only a portion of the home each year. Private bequests also permitted some improvements.

Plans call for the home to be made as attractive as possible to tourists and for the many historical items to be preserved as closely as possible to the original item. Each summer a guide is on duty to answer questions for visitors and supervise the home.

A slight fee is charged to help offset some of the costs of operating the home, but additional funds are needed to maintain the home as a historical attraction, the committee said. Since many of the visitors are school children from throughout the county and since many county residents make use of the home and its surroundings, the council committee hopes to receive some assistance in the upkeep of the home, it indicated.

Republican she may be but Mrs. Warren Knowles has adopted the Jackie Kennedy look so far on the trip. Her wardrobe consists of a variety of sleeveless shifts in different colors which she wears with fishnet stockings and, for the coffee at the United States Embassy, knee high black patent boots. Added to the party at the Embassy was Miss Lillian Nitcher, formerly of Madison, now with the International Red Cross in Tokyo.

Mrs. Robert Tracy of Janesville, Mrs. Nathaniel Zelazo of Milwaukee and I probably know more about oysters and pearls than we want to know at a demonstration of planting a nucleus in live oysters at a pearl shop. The nuclei are made from clam shells which are dredged from the Mississippi river near Prairie du Chien. So the top pearls from Japan have Wisconsin centers.

New President Selected by Paper Group

Edwin A. Locke Jr. Quits Georgia Post To Take API Reins

Special to The Post-Crescent
NEW YORK — The American Paper Institute (API) today announced that Edwin A. Locke Jr. will assume duties Jan. 1 as its president and chief executive officer.

Locke, 57, is resigning from the Modern Homes Construction Company, a Georgia corporation, which he is president.

The API was formed in 1964 in

E. A. Locke Jr.

Appleton by leaders of the paper industry. The group united the activities of 14 previously separate trade associations which covered all aspects of the industry. The API maintains headquarters in New York City and has offices in Chicago and Washington, D.C.

Locke brings to his new post a wide background in finance, manufacturing, transportation, governmental and international diplomacy.

He has been a vice-president of the Chase National Bank, president of two corporations, special assistant to the President of the United States and an emissary to the Middle East for the State Department.

In 1951 President Truman asked Locke to take charge of American economic and technical

Mormon Film Will be Presented Tonight

"Man's Search for Happiness," a 20-minute color film, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. today at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

The film, dealing with the Mormon concept of where man came from, why he is here and where he is going, was shown at the Mormon pavilion at the New York World's Fair. It is free and open to the public.

A year later he undertook his first major assignment in industry when he joined the Union Tank Car Co., Chicago, as president and chief executive officer. Under his leadership, the company quadrupled its sales volume in seven years.

the court, maintained that Pine Street, a deadend east-west road, presently affords the only means of ingress or egress to Nino's from U. S. 41, within a distance of a fourth mile north or south. Pine Street, a dirt road, runs along the southern edge of Nino's property. Nino's is reached by a short driveway off Pine Street.

Block Street

Santner said that the state and the construction firm started road work Tuesday, blocking the Pine Street road "without any right or authority." He held that without a restraining order, Nino's business "will be irreparably damaged" and the year-old supper club would be "forced out of business completely."

To block access to U.S. 41 from Pine Street before completion of access to nearby Spencer Street and W. College Avenue (State 125) would leave Nino's with no ingress or egress except by traveling south one mile to County Trunk 88, Santner stated in the complaint.

He contended that the blocking of access to U.S. 41 at Pine Street, at a time when there are no other direct access routes, is a violation of an Aug. 15, 1966, agreement between the state, highway commission and former owners of the land on which Nino's is located.

Police, who found her seated in her basement in a daze early the morning of Sept. 28, questioned her once during her three-week stay at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, but they reportedly were unable to learn anything out of her about her husband's death or the circumstances surrounding the butchering of his body.

Daughters, Widow Will Share Estate

John R. Diderich, retired president of Appleton Building and Loan Association, left an estate with a gross value of $266,360, according to an account of a final judgement entered in Outagamie County Court Branch 1.

His widow, Marion, 516 E. North St., was named to receive shares totaling $116,460, while the remainder was divided equally between two daughters, Helen Wheeler, Kalamazoo, Mich., and Alice Diderich, also of 516 E. North St. Most of the estate consisted of real estate.

Diderich, who died July 15, 1965, at the age of 89, also was president of the John Diderich Fine Furnishings Co.

Oshkosh Group Franchised for State Pageant

Jaycees Relinquish Miss Wisconsin Contest Rights

OSHKOSH — A newly-formed organization known as Miss Wisconsin Pageant, Incorporated, has been issued the franchise for the 1968 beauty pageant here. The group will take over the rights from the Oshkosh Jaycees, who recently voted to relinquish the franchise.

The new group will consist of the same board of directors as in the past and will be guided along the same lines, according to David Schenke, Oshkosh Jaycee president.

Already, entries from 40 cities have been received, as compared with 13 cities that originally participated in the contest when it came to Oshkosh in 1963.

Will Televise

Jack Erilla, executive director of the pageant, and David Sennholz, chairman of the board, indicated that final judging will be telecast throughout the state. Wisconsin is one of the few states to televise its pageant.

"It is our feeling that the Miss Wisconsin Pageant is a remarkable achievement of the entire City of Oshkosh and this change will reflect that it is a community-wide endeavor rather than just a project of the Jaycees," said Schenke.

He stressed that the Jaycees intend to continue to support the pageant.

The 1968 franchise was issued by the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City.

It also concurred in a basic summer school program, by leaving $18,000 in the budget for that purpose. Originally, the school board requested $38,000 for an "enrichment summer school program."

The Appleton Taxpayers Association, which met earlier in the week after having representatives at all budget reviews, will make its recommendation tonight. It reportedly calls for further cuts in the budget.

The $17 million includes all city, school, county and state purposes. It calls for a $9.3 million levy (money to be collected by property taxes).

Public Given Opportunity to Discuss Budget

Hearing Tonight in City Hall; Zoning Action Delayed

The general public will have its say tonight on the proposed $17 million Appleton budget for 1968 which calls for a $9.40 rate increase.

Mayor George Buckley said the public hearing will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the council chambers.

The city council is also scheduled to have the new citywide zoning code before it. However, persons with objections or amendments will be given forms to fill out and return to city hall — the public hearing on that matter to be adjourned to a later date.

In addition to the budget hearing, the council has a full agenda of regular business accumulated since its last meeting.

The budget to be presented tonight reflects all cuts made in original requests which exceeded $18 million.

Date Set to Discuss West Allis Fair Site

Expect Proposals to Move Park At Dec. 7 Commission Meeting

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — A final date has been set for the public report of the study being conducted on the future of the state fair park in West Allis.
The State University Affairs Committee of the state Building Commission will make public state analysts' recommendations at a Dec. 7 meeting, it decided Monday.
The action came as the committee gave tentative approval to the expenditure of $80,000 in state funds for the construction of a storm sewer to serve the park and part of the City of West Allis.
The sewer, which needs the Dineen report calling for a joint approval of the full commission, state, county and city exposition scheduled to meet Monday, center in downtown Milwaukee would provide a solution to the periodic flooding of areas of the state for the first time.
The report on the future of the park will be based on studies conducted since last spring, when the full commission asked the subcommittee to study the park in light of proposals for additions which could range over $40 million in construction costs for the state.

Expect Suggestions
Among recommendations is expected to be a suggestion that the facility be moved.

Other possibilities include the closing of the exposition center in light of the Dineen proposal, or the expansion of the park in the existing site in West Allis.

Following the day-long subcommittee meeting in December, said Chairman David Martin, Republican assemblyman from Neenah, the subunit should tentatively discuss the proposed future of the park, somewhere in the Milwaukee-West Allis area.

After that public hearing, he said, the subcommittee will present its final report and proposals to the full commission.

Bear Creek Man Forfeits $75 for Row With Police

A fine and costs totaling $75 were levied Tuesday afternoon against David Thebo, 31, Bear Creek, who was found guilty of disorderly conduct following a trial in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Thebo, who was not present for trial, was arrested by Outagamie County police who found him sleeping in The Paradise Club at 4201 W. Wisconsin Ave. early on the morning of Oct. 18.

Police, who found Thebo inside after discovering a door open at the tavern, said the Bear Creek man had been drinking and became belligerent. He closed a drawer on a police sergeant's hand and pushed the sergeant.

Five county policemen testified Tuesday.

Fine and costs were taken from a $75 bond Thebo had filed.

He has conducted research at the universities of Massachusetts, Illinois and Wisconsin, and had industry experience with A. E. Epstein Son Inc. before coming to the Institute.

Hilbert Parish Receives $150 To Buy Projector

HILBERT — The St. Mary Holy Name Society donated $150 for the purchase of an overhead projector for the parish school.

The group approved the project Thursday after a demonstration of the equipment by Sister Francis Helen, principal. The money will also provide for supplies to be used with the projector.

Plans were made for a public card party Dec. 3 in the parish hall. Edward Koehler is chairman.

The Rev. John Schmitt, pastor, discussed the importance of safe driving practices to young people. He also asked for volunteers to assist with packing clothing collected in the annual Thanksgiving drive. This will be done at 8:30 p.m. Nov. 27.

Medic Alert Tag Can Save Life of Wearer

TURLOCK, Calif. (AP) — A round-the-clock service of a cen-man digging for gem stones ac-tral answering file is main-identically stepped on a nest of tained. Collect calls are ac-yellow jackets. About 15 stung cepied from physicians, law en-him. His throat swelled and he forcement officials and others in couldn't tell a companion he emergency.

was deathly allergic to stings. The central file contains, be-sides medical information about the member, the name, address and telephone number of his doctor and of the wearer's near-est relative. It may also carry such information as his blood type, religion and if he has willed his eyes to an eye bank. "The doctor said more delay might have meant his life," his wife wrote Medic Alert Foun-dation International, Turlock, Calif. 95380.

The nonprofit, tax-exempt charitable foundation gets many and a stainless steel link brace-grateful letters from among al-let or 24-inch necklace with the most 200,000 persons wearing tag. About one-third of the Medic Alert tags on bracelets or necklaces.

New enrollments average 2,500 a month, says Chester L. Watts, executive director.

The American Medical As-sociation estimates that 40 mil-lion Americans—one in five—should be wearing medical identification because of a hid-den health problem. It can pre-vent painful mistakes in treat-ment—or save a life.

There are some 200 reasons, ranging from drug allergies to use of contact lenses, for wear-ing a warning notice. Some per-sons can tolerate contact lenses for short periods only. Doctors and nurses may not notice such lenses on the eyes of patients brought unconscious to the hospital.

The foundation tag bears the words Medic Alert and the ser-pent-twined staff, universal medical symbol, emblazoned in red enamel on one side.

On the back is engraved the wearer's medical problem, such as: "Diabetes," "epilepsy," "allergic to—stings, certain drugs or antibiotics," "hemophilia," "wearing contact lenses," "scuba diver."

Scuba diver?

Attack of Bends

"Yes," says Watts. "Divers can have attacks of bends two hours after leaving the water and symptoms resemble those of acute intoxication."

The reverse of the tag also carries a serial number as-signed to the wearer, and a band had felt so secure with his 209-634-4917, telephone number bracelet she had him buried of the foundation, where a widow wrote that her hus-band had felt so secure with his bracelet she had him buried with it.

The Law and You

Free Speech Denied When It Comes to Threats, Obsenities

Freedom of speech enjoys its greatest protection in private life. The Constitution protects your right to sound off to anyone.

But you cannot use the government or an official even to go to extremes based on poor information. Better to let ideas compete freely than to suppress them.

Political statements are often personal, but unless they are knowingly false, they are not official. The government cannot suppress them.

In a recent case Mike Madson, a Nevada rancher, telephoned the White House and threatened to shoot the president. He said he had bought a gun community's welfare. "I can and I wrote a letter to the White House and told the Pres-ident I would kill him." For that form of expression the secret service arrested Mike.

When prosecuted, Mike said speech, even though the "mes-sage didn't knowingly or willfully sage" may be trivial. The law mean to carry out his threat, does not permit censorship or Still the court convicted him, regulation before publication un-For conviction it is enough that less it is obscene or presents a threatener comprehends the "clear and present danger" to meaning of the threat and has the community

The grand prizes in today's puzzle contest for boys and girls will be five sets of the Encyclopedia Britannica "True-to-Life Books." These are story books about boys and girls, animals and nature around the world. Each book is illustrated and together they make a splendid addition to the book shelf of any young reader.

To try for a set, a boy or girl must prepare a contest entry that will prove to be the winner of a local qualifying prize. This will enable it to compete at the national level.

Ten local prizes will be awarded to boys and girls of the Fox Cities area whose contest entries are judged to be the 5 neatest and most original correct ones from this locality.

These winning entries will compete with local winners from all other cities where this column is published to find the five best of all. These five will win the "True-to-Life Books."

The local prizes in this contest will be pencil sharpeners in the form of wide-brimmed cowboy hats. The sharpeners are made of colorful plastic and are perfect for use at school or at home.

To enter the contest all you have to do is count all the threes you can find in the picture printed above. All of them are on the artist's easel. Count carefully to avoid missing any.

Clip out the picture, paste it on a piece of paper, print the total number of threes beneath it, along with your name, age, address and zip number. Color the picture with paints or crayons and decorate the entry in any other neat, original way.

Finally, address it to Cappy Dick's "True-to-Life Books" Contest at the Post-Crescent, and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow.

When the judges have selected the prize winners their names will be published here and their awards will be sent to their homes by mail.

Judges' decisions will be final. All entries become Cappy Dick's property; none will be returned. Tomorrow: How to display a football as a special trophy!

Bernard Shaw Spectacular, NBC Special

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-8 (Channel 5) — Androcles and the Lion, a musical version of George Bernard Shaw's play, has the advantage of a beautiful score by Richard Rodgers and a fine cast. Norman Wisdom is totally charming as the meek Greek tailor whose conversion to Christianity leads to Rome with a group of Christians about to be tossed to the lions. Geoffrey Holder is a splendid lion and his scenes with Wisdom are gems. Also excellent is Ed Ames, as the Christian whose strength and temper make it difficult for him to turn the other cheek. His duet with little Wisdom, "My Strength Is My Weakness," is one of the show's high spots. The prettiest ballad "Strangers" is sung by John Cullum as the Roman officer who falls in love with one of the doomed Christians, Inge Swenson. A special word must be said for Noel Coward as Caesar, singing of the glories of the emperor's thumb and, eventually, making friends with the lion who is Wisdom's friend. Patricia Routledge is very funny as Androcles' shrewish wife, who is with him at the play's start when he performs the action that makes him friends with the lion. (C)

8-10 (Channel 11) — In order to hold an audience in suspense for two hours on television "the play is the thing" and there are few that can do it. One of the few is Dial M For Murder which will hold you tonight both because of the clutching intricacies of its finely woven murder scheme, and also due to the excellence of the performers who weave the tale. Laurence Harvey is totally believable as a man with a wounded ego plotting to murder his wife. The murder goes awry but not the plot nor the nimble thinking of the sadistic schemer. Diane Cilento is perfect as the wanderer's wife who becomes the frenzied victim of her husband's warped mind. Hugh O'Brien plays the third man in the marital triangle and Cyril Cusack as the inspector adds a new dimension to the character-building of a detective. A happens tonight on Run For Must for mystery and drama. Yvonne Raine is Franchot Tone is the guest, appearing as a distinguished retired jurist who is taken over the coals by a muck-william Windom takes much of raking television interviewer. Custer away from star Wayne. (C)

"The Last Love of Medea," the play written by Lawrence senior Lizbeth Tulsy, is one of three originals opening the Theatre season tonight in the Experimental Theater of the Music-Drama Center. The actors are Marcia Smith, Evanston, left, Rufus Cadigan, St. Louis, Mo., and Alexandra Abercrombie, Lake Forest. F. Theodore Cloak is directing the trilogy of plays showing through Sunday with an 8 p.m. curtain.

Maunder in his role of a greedy, murderous prospector. He and two partners find gold in Sioux territory. (C)

7:30-8 (Channels 2-7) — Jethro is back at his military machinations on The Beverly Hillbillies, this time determined to become a frog man and using the backyard swimming pool to test his new found demolition expertise. (C)

8-9 (Channel 5) — The Kraft Music Hall has a sprightly musical reminiscence of the good old days of the '20s, titled "Stage Door Johnny." Tony Randall heads a large and excellent cast whose unique feature is columnist Walter Winchell, reliving his early days as a Broadway hoofer. (C)

8:30-9 (Channels 2-7) — John Astin and Mariette Hartley are as much the He and She of tonight's story as stars Dick Benjamin and Paula Prentiss. He is a doctor and a bachelor and friend of Dick's. She is a bachelor girl and friend of Paula's who says yes to a blind date with the doc. (C)

9-10 (Channel 5) — You can play the third man in the tell when the star of a series marital triangle and Cyril Cusack also directs an episode by the sack as the inspector adds a new dimension to the character-building of a detective. A happens tonight on Run For Must for mystery and drama. Carol Channing Show Postponed

The strike of a technician's union has caused ABC to postpone the Carol Channing special set for Thursday night. The program was taped about three weeks ago with union consent but under an agreement that it would be broadcast only if the strike was over, an ABC spokesman said.

The network will fill the hour with a variety show called "Popendipity," with comedian Flip Wilson and a number of singing groups. The Channing special will be rescheduled.

Trials, Tribulations Of New Show Told

'He and She' Having Rough Time Against TV Movie Opposition, Yet Holding Own

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer — HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The travails of television programing during this traumatic season can be illustrated with the new series, "He and She."

The title roles are played by Richard Benjamin, an accomplished light comedian from Broadway — "Star Spangled Girl"—and Paula Prentiss, one of the screen's best new comedienesses—"What's New, Pussycat?" The show is generally bright and funny, by television standards, and critical comment was mostly good. But the future of the show is iffy.

The reason: "He and She" appears on CBS opposite the ABC Wednesday night movie. And few series have been able to win the rating race against feature films.

Just Holding Own — "We've been holding our own, but it has been tough," says Benjamin, a tall, collegiate-looking man with a ready laugh. "If we can get into that zone between No. 30 and No. 40 in the remainder of this season. The ratings, then we might be series' survival probably won't

"I said Miss Prentiss, who is also was miserable because I was Mrs. Benjamin. This would be a good time in our careers to do a series. And I've never enjoyed anything as much as I have these past few months."

Disliked Movie Years — This may come as a shock to those believers in the Hollywood dream, but the truth is that Paula did not enjoy her five odd years as a film star. In fact, her experience in the movies produced a mental hell from which she is now recovering. "The climax came when I helped restore her equilibrium."

Holiday Pies

POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR
By Lillian Mackesy

Pies simply are a part of the holiday scene. They always have been since the Dame Priscillas and Prudences of Pilgrim days first learned how to bake mashed pumpkin in a pastry crust. Most American families have an array of favorite pies to eat at Thanksgiving and Christmas time and these good old standbys probably will be made again this year.

However, the tradition of apple or pumpkin, berry or chocolate or whatever can be stretched a bit to include either a new version of an old standby or a new treat never served before. With all the entertaining ahead, the homemaker will welcome new recipes such as these today. Take, for instance, the ever popular favorite — apple pie. In this modern version, canned apple slices (a wonderful shortcut if I ever saw one) or fresh apples sliced from scratch are simmered in a syrup of sugar, pineapple juice,

Keep Uniform Size

Ask your butcher to bone and tie roasts that will fit in the roasting pans to be used. Try to keep them uniform in size, about five to seven pounds per roast. Large roasts over 10 pounds need greater oven space and may be more difficult to carve. Boneless roasts are easily sliced and have little waste, lowering cost per serving, Mrs. Menes points out.

Ham is an alltime favorite and comes ready-to-eat. You can have it pre-sliced by the butcher. Even if it is to be served cold, heating and chilling of ready-to-eat ham is recommended to improve the grain and texture of the meat, says Mrs. Menes.

There is no reason why community dinners should be limited to roast beef or baked ham.

Try These Dishes

Beef Stroganoff, for instance, is good for a buffet supper; meat balls suggest a smorgasbord, or savory braised beef and vegetables go well in big casseroles passed around the table family-style.

Turkey and chicken are a traditional choice for large gatherings and appeal to both

Julie Andrews Seeks Divorce In California

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — "The varying demands of our careers have kept Tony and me apart for long periods of time, thus placing obvious strains on our marriage," says Julie Andrews.

The Academy Award-winning star of "Mary Poppins" and "The Sound of Music" spoke Tuesday after suing her childhood sweetheart for divorce after eight years of marriage.

"It has therefore become clear that a divorce will be in the best interests of all concerned," said Miss Andrews who charged stage designer Tony Walton with mental cruelty.

Separated in '66, Miss Andrews, 32, and Walton, 33, were parted since 1963 by their careers, hers in Hollywood and his in New York and London theaters. They separated in October 1966.

During the past year she has been seen in company with Lili, who directed wards after she returns from a "Days of Wine and Roses" Hawaii vacation. "Breakfast at Tiffany's" and other pictures. Edwards recently was divorced.

Actress Julie Andrews is shown with her husband, British stage designer Tony Walton, at the Academy Awards dinner in April, 1965, when she won a best actress Oscar for "Mary Poppins". She sued for divorce Tuesday, after eight years of marriage. She has recently been linked with Blake Edwards, recently divorced director. (AP Wirephoto)

Career Girl Laments Shortage Of Interesting, Tall Fellows

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a career girl in my mid-twenties who has a college degree, good family background, solid reputation for respectability, pleasant personality, interesting (but not beautiful) face and a better than average figure. I have plenty of dates, but the problem is that every man who interests me is shorter than I am. In my stocking feet I am five feet eleven.

I have an aunt who is my height and she married a man who is five-eight. All through childhood I remember how odd my uncle and aunt looked together. I vowed that I would not spend my life bending over to hear what my husband was saying. Yet the tall guys I have dated never seem to have anything to say that is worth listening to.

What advice do you have for me, Ann Landers? — Gypsy

Dear Gyp: Settle for a short guy with a loud voice.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I just read the letter from the mother whose retarded child died. Well-meaning but insensitive friends kept coming up to her at the funeral and saying such things as, "It's all for the best."

Not long ago I lost my husband. He was an alcoholic and his drinking drove him to an early grave. I can count on one hand the number of people who said, "I am sorry" and let it go at that. Almost everyone had to let me know that my husband's death was no surprise and no loss to society — although he was an MD and did a great deal of good in the world.

The two MDs who worked with my husband didn't say a single word to comfort me. They just came over, shook their heads and walked on. I never realized how heartless and cruel people can be. But I do now. — Premature Widow

Dear Widow: Please don't mistake ineptness for cruelty. People often say the wrong thing when they don't know what to say. Their very presence was an indication of friendship. Accept it as such and don't be bitter.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My little grandson who is eight years old has gotten into the habit of licking his lower lip about one inch below the natural lip line. This has been going on for several months now and part of his chin has become so raw that people are constantly asking what is the matter with him.

I have told the boy his chin looks dreadful and to please break himself of the habit. He says his lips always feel dry and he can't help it.

Have you ever heard of anything like this? What can be done about it? — Gram

Dear Gram: The boy has a nervous habit and you can't nag or shame a person out of a nervous habit, so stop trying.

Junior Auxiliary To Install New Officers Saturday

LITTLE CHUTE — Installation of officers will be held at the 1:30 p.m. Saturday meeting of the American Legion Junior Auxiliary at the village hall.

Mrs. Henry Kuhn, auxiliary president, will be installing officer.

Assuming office will be Misses Susan Heesakker, president; Randi Bera, vice president; Betty Ann Kilsdonk, secretary; Mary Jo Heesakker, chaplain; Patricia Kuhn, historian, and Mary Bevers and Denise Driesen, sergeants-at-arms.

Plans will be made for the Christmas party. Lunch will be served by Mrs. Clayton DeBruin. Mrs. Eugene Driessen Franco Zeffirelli, director of the film.

Princess, Actor Give Up Try at Rite in England

ROME (AP) — Princess Maria Beatrice of Savoy and her fiancé, actor Maurizio Arena, returned to Rome today after an unsuccessful attempt to be married in England.

"We will be married as soon as possible," Arena said. "It is not excluded that we could be married in a civilian ceremony in Italy or that we go to South America for a try."

Arena said the two had left England after they learned that 15 days of fixed residence were necessary to obtain a British marriage license.

"In four or five days, we would have received a court order forbidding the marriage," Arena explained.

The Italian princess has been summoned before a Rome civil court because of a move of her family to block the wedding. Her parents, former Italian King Umberto and his wife Queen Maria Jose, claim she is not stable enough to decide for herself.

Burtens Sued By Producer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Film producer Julian Blaustein has sued Richard Burton and his wife Elizabeth Taylor for $550,000 damages.

Blaustein filed suit Tuesday in Superior Court, charging Burton and Miss Taylor broke a contract which had designated them as producers of their film, "The Taming of the Shrew."

The suit said the performers agreed to allow Blaustein to produce the movie, took advantage of many of his ideas for the film and ultimately produced Christmas party. Lunch will be served by Mrs. Clayton DeBruin. Mrs. Eugene Driessen Franco Zeffirelli, director of the film.

Key Play In Split Second

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Morrie Elis, a Long Island bridge teacher, used to win national championships left and right before he retired in 1956. Two weeks ago he got as far as the semifinals of the annual International Rubber Bridge Championship at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas, showing his old form in today's hand.

West led the nine of hearts, and Elis made the key play as soon as dummy hit the table: he played the king of hearts from the dummy.

East won with the ace of hearts but could not afford to return the suit since Elis would let a low heart ride to dummy's ten. In an attempt to reach his partner's hand East shifted to the nine of clubs.

Elis stepped up with the ace of clubs (another key play) and led the queen of spades to force out the ace. West returned the eight of hearts, but declarer had gained enough time to prevent the loss of two heart tricks.

Discards Heart

Elis won with the queen of hearts, cashed the ace of diamonds and led a spade to dummy's king. Now he could discard a heart on the king of diamonds and claim his contract, losing only one spade, one heart and one club.

If Elis had made the "normal" play of a low heart from dummy at the first trick he would have to win with the queen. He could cash the ace of diamonds but could not get to dummy to discard a heart on the king of diamonds.

West would get in with the ace of spades or the king of clubs to lead another heart at once, and the defenders would take two hearts, one spade and one club.

St. Aloysius Society Installs Officers

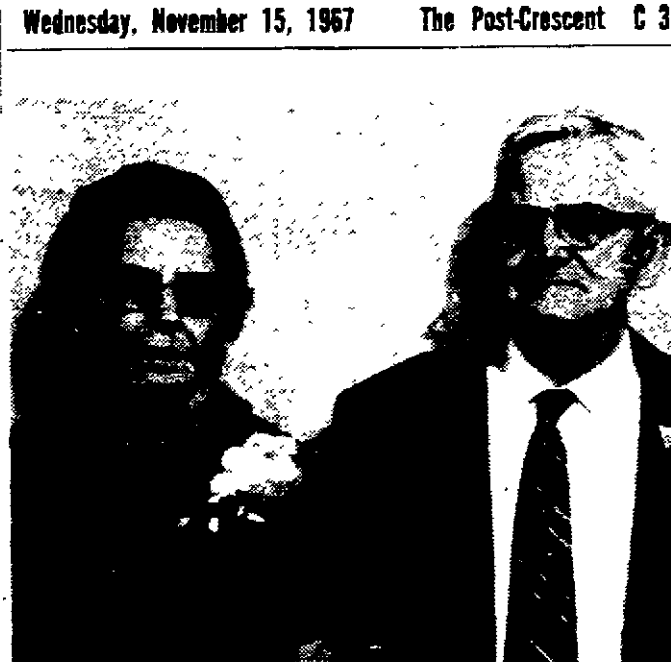

KAUKAUNA — Mrs. Jack DeKock was installed as president of St. Aloysius Altar-Mission Society by the Rev. S. A. Borusky at a recent meeting. Mrs. Robert Sanders will serve as vice president; Mrs. Jerome Welhouse, secretary; Mrs. Donald Swetz, treasurer, and Mrs. J. S. Jeffry, membership secretary.

Miss Mildred Vernosh, Green Bay, spoke to the group about her six-month experience working in hospitals in Nicaragua. Special prizes went to Mrs. Leo Van De Loo, Mrs. Carl Newhouse and Mrs. Gilbert Jaeger. The next meeting was set for Jan. 11.

Postal Increases Become Pertinent at Holiday Time

BY MARY FEELEY

About the only time most of us pay much attention to our personal postage costs is when we sit down to address our Christmas cards and wrap up the little packages, such as thin books and a pair of skivvies, which we want to send our friends and relatives overseas. Well, this year, what with the increase in postal rates, we must think in dollars as well as cents. You can save money by mailing early.

No doubt you read in the papers last spring that international surface and airmail postal rates were going up, averaging a additional ounce. Postcards have a 13 per cent increase. But in April or May this didn't weigh heavily on you. Now, as holiday-mailing time approaches, that increase becomes pertinent to the budget. So keep these specifics in mind — not just for the budget's sake but for the sake of your friends who wouldn't appreciate your Christmas greetings accompanied by a "postage due" notice:

- Most letters going by surface transport to all nations (excepting Canada and Mexico) now cost 13 cents for the first ounce and 8 cents for each additional ounce.
- Airmail letters to Central America and the Caribbean area will now cost 15 cents per half ounce.
- Airmail to Europe and Mediterranean Africa is up five cents.
- from 15 cents per half ounce to 20 cents per half ounce.
- Airmail for the rest of the Western Hemisphere will remain at 15 cents per half ounce (except for Canada and Mexico).
- The rest of the world can be sent airmail greetings at the unchanged rate of 25 cents per half ounce.
- If you intend to send small packages by air — for example, books, periodicals and other printed matter — the cost has been increased 10 cents per piece to all countries except Canada.
- None of these increases applies to mailings to members of the Armed Forces overseas. Domestic postage rates still prevail for anything addressed to APO's and FPO's.

Now . . . Teens from age 13 through 18 have their own exclusive Want-Ad Column in The Post-Crescent!

TEEN-CRIER WANT-ADS

The "Teen-Crier" Column in the Classified Section of The Post-Crescent is provided solely for Teenagers who wish to sell a variety of items, from a walkie-talkie or go-cart to beagle hounds and Siamese cats.

There will be no charge for these ads as placed by teenage youths — for teenagers — and ads will run for five consecutive days unless cancelled sooner.

SO-O . . . young men and young ladies — whatever you've got to sell — with a maximum price of $50.00 — tell your friends about it in the Teen-Crier Want-Ad Column of The Post-Crescent. Follow the simple regulations below . . .

TEEN-CRIER REGULATIONS

- All ads must be placed by teenagers, age 13 through 18.
- Only For-Sale ads will be accepted.
- All articles and/or items (such as pets) must be priced at no more than $50 total value.
- Prices must be stated on all For Sale items.
- Seller's name, age, address and/or phone number must appear in all ads.
- No guns, ammunition, furniture or appliance articles will be accepted.
- Ads will run for five consecutive days unless cancelled or otherwise disqualified.
- Ads may be phoned in or brought to the Appleton or Neenah-Menasha offices of the Post-Crescent between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Phone calls will be accepted from toll-free areas only.
- All discrepancies should be reported to the Classified Advertising department of The Post-Crescent.
- Ads quoting prices lower than actual prices of articles will be cancelled immediately and the advertiser charged for insertions at the regular existing rates for other classifications.
- This, and other abuses of the privilege of using the Teen-Crier column free of charge will subject the advertiser to possible refusal of further use of the Teen-Crier column.

PLEASE NOTE: The Post-Crescent reserves the right to refuse any Teen-Crier ad we feel does not qualify as truly a teen age item or items.

spices and lemon rind. Then, while the syrup thickens, the apple slices go into a pastry-lined pie plate to absorb an extra flavor of vanilla, butter and chopped nuts. After the thickened syrup is poured over the apple mixture, a lattice pastry goes on top and the pie is popped into the oven.

Everyone knows about custard pie and pumpkin pies. Most people like both. However, the custard pie recipe is a special one that uses crunchy peanut butter in a blend of eggs, milk and cream. It's one of those ideas every creative cook wishes she had thought up first because peanut butter is a natural for a pie such as custard. The pumpkin favorite is calorie-light, designed for waist-watchers and those on a diet.

Then there's the recipe for Molasses Pecan Pie, a favorite among Southern cooks. This one is a classic that's delicious and easy to prepare since it's made mostly of sweetness and light. The sweetness comes from mellow, West Indies molasses and the light from the filling's smooth texture. The taffy flavor of molasses combines happily with the pecans which are plentiful in our Southland.

Cranberries the symbol of Thanksgiving are at their seasonable best now and make an especially flavorful and colorful pie for holiday serving. To round out the collection, there's one more in modern dress. This is the chocolate pie made a special way with raisins and German chocolate in pleasing combination.

A new trick to make raisin chopping easier in all recipes is to freeze the raisins first, then let the blender do the chopping. Whir them at high speed only a second or two and immediately combine the thoroughly chopped raisins with the other ingredients just as the recipe says.

MOLASSES PECAN PIE
3 eggs, slightly beaten
¾ cup molasses
¼ cup light corn syrup
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup pecans
1 unbaked pastry shell, (8 inches)

Combine eggs, molasses, corn syrup, melted butter, salt and vanilla in mixing bowl. Make a paste of small amount of mixture and flour, stir in remaining mixture. Add pecans. Turn into unbaked pastry shell. Bake in 325 degree oven one hour, or until firm.

PEANUT BUTTER CUSTARD
¾ cup crunchy peanut butter
4 eggs
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon nutmeg

Dash salt
1 cup milk
1 cup light cream
1 (9-inch) unbaked pie crust

Blend together until smooth with wire whip or rotary egg beater. peanut butter, eggs, sugar, vanilla, nutmeg and salt. Gradually stir in milk and cream. Turn into pie crust. Bake in 400 degree (hot) oven 45 to 50 minutes or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Cool thoroughly before cutting.

CRANBERRY HARVEST PIE
2 packages pie crust mix

1½ cups sugar
½ cup cornstarch
3 tablespoons water
4 cups fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained
1 package (12 ounces) frozen-in-syrup blueberries, thawed
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Prepare pastry according to package directions; set aside one-fourth for decoration. Use half of the remaining pastry to line the bottom and sides of an ungreased 10-inch pie pan. Combine remaining ingredients except butter; pour mixture into lined pie pan. Dot with butter.

Roll out other half of pastry and place over filling, crimping edges to seal and cutting a few slits in top to allow steam to escape. Roll out pastry reserved for decoration and cut out leaves of pastry. Brush leaves with water and put them on top of the pie. Bake in 425-degree oven 45 to 50 minutes or until crust is richly browned. Cool; then cut into wedges.

APPLES UCE PUMPKIN PIE

(Calorie-Trimmed)
1 cup canned pumpkin
1 cup unsweetened applesauce
2-3 cup granulated imitation sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
1½ teaspoons nutmeg
½ teaspoon allspice
½ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon ginger
4 eggs, well beaten
1 cup skim milk
1 (9-inch) unbaked pie shell
Cheese cutouts

Sweetener in this recipe is not concentrated but imitation sugar used cup for cup like sugar. Preheat oven to 425 degrees. In a large bowl, combine pumpkin, applesauce, imitation sugar, salt, and spices; blend well. Add beaten eggs and milk, mixing well. Pour into unbaked pie shell.

Bake 45 minutes, or until a knife inserted near center comes out clean. Garnish, if desired, with pumpkin cut-outs, made from slices of cheese.

GOLDEN APPLE PIE
½ cup sugar
1½ cups pineapple

Golden Apple

juice
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
5 cups apple slices
Pastry for 9-inch pie (2-crust)
2 teaspoons cornstarch
2 teaspoons water
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon butter
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 egg white, slightly beaten

Combine sugar, pineapple juice, spices and lemon rind. Bring to a boil. Add apple slices and simmer 10 minutes. Line a 9-inch pie plate with pastry. Lift apple slices out of syrup and put into pie shell. Dissolve cornstarch in water. Stir into syrup in pan and cook until mixture thickens. Stir in vanilla, butter and walnuts. Pour over apples.

Cut strips of pastry ½-inch wide. Brush lightly with slightly beaten egg white. Place criss-cross over pie. Bake in a 450-degree oven for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350-degrees; bake for 30 additional minutes.

GERMAN CHOCOLATE RAISIN PIE

1½ cups seedless raisins
1 cup whipping cream
2 ounces German sweet chocolate
¼ cup butter
2 eggs

1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon instant coffee powder
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1 unbaked 9-inch pastry shell

Chop raisins coarsely. Combine with cream, chocolate and butter. Heat slowly until chocolate melts.

Beat eggs lightly. Add vanilla and dry ingredients. Combine with raisin mixture. Turn into unbaked pastry shell.

Bake, below oven center, in 375-degree oven 30 to 35 minutes until firm. Cool. Garnish as desired with whipped cream.

Age Difference May Cause

Fights Between Two Brothers

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: I have two boys, 3 and 8. I know that jealousy in a 3-year old is normal, but I want to know how to handle it properly. Every time the 8 year old touches a toy that belongs to the 3 year old, he screams his head off. I have tried to reason with the younger one and I have allowed him to play with most of his brother's toys. But this doesn't do much good. And I will not take everything away from the older boy because his brother screams, although I understand the way the young one feels. The older boy plays nicely with his younger brother, loves him, and is tolerant of him, but the younger one doesn't seem able to share his toys. MRS. S. K.

It's not good for either of these boys to play together often or for long periods of time, because there's too much age difference between them. When they do begin to play together, lay down the law: they must share each other's toys and they may not whine or cry. If either one doesn't follow this rule, separate them.

By the way, it's wrong to call what your younger son is feeling "jealousy." It's much more likely that he's simply selfish and domineering, because he hasn't had much practice in tolerating give-and-take with equals. Nursery school for a few hours a day is the best place for him to learn to share. See about enrolling him soon.

Dear Dr. Jones: When my first child was about 18 months old, I would spank her quite severely for going out of the yard or for throwing a fit when it was time to leave playmates. Since that time, I have been able to overcome this habit and she seems to be a fairly happy 5-year-old.

But she still cries when things don't go her way, especially when she wants to stay home to play with her friends and we must leave for shopping or some other trip. I wonder if she's still angry about the old spankings? If so, how do you remedy the mistake of spanking once it has been done? MRS. F. J.

If everything else is good, it's unlikely that she's still harboring resentments toward you for your foolish mistakes of three years ago. You can expect a child to cry when she isn't happy. And it's very unlikely that any child is enthusiastic about shopping trips, especially if they take her away from her friends.

Why not schedule shopping when she's at school so her playtime isn't often interrupted? When you must interfere with her activities, tell her you're sorry she's unhappy.

Sympathy is never out of order.

DEAR DR. JONES: When my 18-month-old son gets reprimanded by us, he usually gets very angry and starts to bang his head against the floor or the wall. My husband says it's important for us to keep from being panicked by such behavior. So we've usually just laughed and told our son to do it some more, it isn't hurting us.

This doesn't seem to put an end to the problem, though, although we have been using this approach for two months now. Is there some other way of teaching our son he mustn't lose his temper? MRS. E. A.

What are you reprimanding your son for? How? What are you letting him do? What are you giving him?

A child who's reasonably secure and well taken care of who isn't being asked to live up to overwhelming demands, doesn't have frequent tantrums. And when he does get angry, he shows it by shouting or crying, not by seeking to punish himself. So your son's tantrums are a sign that you need to make constructive changes in the way you're dealing with him in ordinary daily life. The book whose name I'm sending you will help you determine what needs correcting and how to make necessary changes. For a start, stop teasing him when he's hurting himself. Instead, comfort him and tell him firmly that you do not want him to hurt himself because you love him. That's different from becoming panicked and giving in to him.

"You take the trouble to cook good foods, healthy foods, so your family will eat right... but if nobody enjoys it, where's the pleasure? That's why the only margarine for my family is Fleischmann's. It's made from 100% golden corn oil. And that means it's good for my whole family... so low in saturated fat. And it tastes good. On toast, mashed potatoes... doesn't matter. Fleischmann's tastes good. What more can you ask from a margarine?"

Stalin's Atrocities Revealed by Victim

18 Years of Physical, Mental Torment Described in New Book

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

His place. His frightful regime spilled the blood of untold thousands and sent other untold thousands to living hell in the frozen north. There was the execution of Yezhov himself and the rise of Lavrenty Beria as Stalin's final bargman.

And for Mrs. Ginzburg, in the depth of nowhere in Kolyma, there was the acid satisfaction of seeing her original NKVD tormentor, the major who conducted her early interrogation, dying from his own suffering and begging a crust of bread from her for his last meal.

Most grotesque of all, there were the Communists who remained Communists to the last: the woman who tapped out in code on prison walls poems of praise to Stalin and the party. In her epilogue, Mrs. Ginzburg notes triumphantly that she "lived to see" the 20th Communist Party congress, the one at which Stalin was denounced by Khrushchev. She was "rehabilitated" only in 1955. Many others were "rehabilitated", but in the many of them were already long dead.

There can be little question, in this 50th jubilee year of Communist power in the Soviet Union, that a document of historical significance has been produced which—in spite of Mrs. Ginzburg's own absolution of it—will stand for a long time as a powerful indictment of the Soviet system.

Party Innocent

The author of "Journey into the Whirlwind," published by Harcourt, Brace & World, Inc., Eugenia Semvonnova Ginzburg, herself blamed Stalin. But unlike Stalin's daughter, Svetlana Alliluyeva, Mrs. Ginzburg would not place blame on the Communist Party or the Soviet system for the terrible hell she describes through the eyes of one who suffered through 18 years of it.

Mrs. Alliluyeva, as a defector from communism, noted in a New York television interview in October that "not much has changed in the last 50 years" in Russia. Mrs. Ginzburg, released from a living death in 1955, two years after Stalin died, concluded that "great Leninist truths have come into their own in our country and party; today people can be told of things that have been and shall be no more."

She was wrong. People outside the Soviet Union could be told of her suffering. Her book, a nakedly simple diary of the grotesque cruelty of the Soviet system under Stalin, was published in Italy, and now is published in the United States. It was not published in the Soviet Union, and probably never will see the light of day in her own country.

Valuable Document

Mrs. Ginzburg's story is one vastly more gripping than even the one told by Mrs. Alliluyeva, and in many respects probably far more important as a historical document.

It is the story of what one woman saw, what one woman suffered, against the background of a whole nation in torment. Multiplied her story by hundreds of thousands, and the mind is staggered at the scope and savagery of Stalin's megalomaniacal blood purge.

Mrs. Ginzburg was a teacher and an editor of the newspaper Red Tartary in Kazan, capital of the Tatar Republic. A member of the Communist Party herself, she was the wife of a high-ranking Communist official, and at the time her descent into hell began, the 30-year-old mother of two children.

Her story really began with the assassination in Leningrad, on Dec. 1, 1934, of Sergei M. Kirov, a party secretary and right-hand man of Stalin. There is still a widespread belief today that Stalin himself engineered that murder as a pretext for the purge that would consolidate his autocratic power. Widespread arrests began shortly thereafter.

Purge Trials

But 1937—"that accursed year," the author calls it—was the beginning of the worst. That was the year of the purge trials, the arrest, execution or imprisonment in exile of tens of thousands of army officers, tens of thousands of party members, tens of thousands of others who had no politics at all.

Mrs. Ginzburg's turn came in February, when she was expelled from the party, arrested and interrogated as an "agent of international imperialism." To her astonishment, her interrogator told her "it is known to the investigators that you belonged to a secret terrorist organization among the editorial staff of Red Tartary." They sent her off to the cellar of Black Lake Prison, warned to confess all.

Before entombing her in solitary confinement they made her fill out the inevitable bureaucratic forms. "I needed one even to get into bed," she wrote.

Sophisticated Torture

And hell it was for her and the swarms of other women cast into the lightless dungeon with her. There were sophisticated forms of torture: the "standing cell," in which the walled-in prisoner, in a tiny cubicle below ground, could only stand upright with arms at her side; the "conveyor belt," in which prisoners were interrogated for days and nights without food or sleep, by shifts of NKVD men, until the victims would, in delirium, sign any wild accusation at all. There was filth, and the worst slop for food.

And there were the Olympian ironies. Stalin, in his mad quest for power, purged the purgers. Henry Yagoda, the dread NKVD chief, went to his doom and Nikolai Yezhov took

Conferences Set
At Kimberly High

KIMBERLY — Parent-teacher conferences will be held at the high school from 8 to 11:45 a.m. and 1 to 4 p.m. Thursday in the many of them were already long dead.

No classes will be held on that day. Report cards will be issued a day prior to the conferences. Even though teachers have not designated a need for conferences, parents are urged to attend.

Coffee will be available for those waiting to see a specific teacher. Parents are asked to limit conferences to 10 to 15 minutes and if further discussion is necessary, they can arrange for a special meeting.

Unused Cars Must be Parked in Garages

LITTLE CHUTE — Police are warning owners of unused or junked cars that a village ordinance allows parking the vehicles in residential neighborhoods only in garages.

Officers have seen many cars illegally parked that create an eyesore or nuisance, especially with the onset of cold weather. Violators are subject to arrest and fines, police said.

Los Angeles in Need Of Animal Trapper

LOS ANGELES (AP) — What Los Angeles needs is an animal trapper, says City Councilman Arthur K. Snyder.

He asked the City Department of Animal Regulation Tuesday to stop invading families of skunks, raccoons and opossums in northeast Los Angeles.

"So this is your first experience with this kind of thing? Well, what you'll wonder about forever after is how these men will find the courage within themselves to face the things they'll have to, and to do the things they must."

Only a few days later that same colonel performed a battlefield feat that won him the Medal of Honor.

Anyone who goes through combat owes his life to the help of others. I owe my life, as a gawky war reporter, to two men, neither of whose names I know and neither of whom I ever saw again.

One was a soldier who saw me on the darkened deck, just before we were to embark in our assault boats. I was carrying enough equipment to settle Africa, not just land there.

"This is going to be a wet-foot landing," he said "With all that gear on you'll go down like a stone. Get rid of it."

I did. I got rid of everything except a pencil, a notebook and a slender volume of Emily Dickinson's poems.

Savior number two was a soldier ahead of me who, after we had been dunked in the water and I had reached a coral outcropping too weak to climb up, stretched down a wet hand of safety and pulled me from the breaking surf.

All my life I'll wonder what happened to those two soldiers. That first morning in Africa I saw the body of a young lieutenant, his middle stained red, being trundled back in the hay of a peasant's cart. Only a few hours before I had seen him on the ship's wardroom, his arms on the shoulders of a couple of other junior officers, singing "Auld Lang Syne."

That first afternoon in Africa I remember, Gen. George Patton came roaring up in a tank, his famed pistols strapped to his sides. He saw a colonel standing there, wearing his green dress uniform that had row after row of award ribbons on it.

"What the hell are you," demanded Patton, "a Christmas tree?"

I remember camping with armor in cactus patches, sleeping on the desert under a canopy of unbelievably bright stars, seeing a German prisoner and being surprised because he looked as dazed and tired and innocent as one of our own men.

I remember playing yo-yo with Gen. Rommel's troops at Kasserine Gap, and our slow but steady learning of the arts of warfare, and hillsides of crimson and blue flowers in April and the smell of almond blossoms, and the turning north to Mahure and Hill 609 and Bizerte and Tunis—and victory in North Africa.

War was a hard thing to endure then, but what made it most endurable was the welded unity of purpose between the battlefield and the home front. There is that unity of 25 years

BY HAL BOYLE [stand outside the neighborhood pool hall, and start-whistling at the pretty girls again.

NEW YORK (AP) — Now in paunchy, middle-aged American goes back to the time, 25 years ago this month, when U.S. troops landed in force in North Africa.

But it couldn't really have been a full quarter of a century ago. It still stands so fresh and green in the memory that it must have happened only a dusty yesterday ago.

War seemed so simple to the uninitiated then. All that had to be done was to whip that hysterical little man with the mustache in Berlin. Then everybody could come marching home, and said:

The pessimists feared the whole job would take six months or more. They were right. It took several more landings—and a full 30 months—before the victory in Europe was fashioned.

War's Kindergarten Every man has his own recollections of those days in North Africa, our kindergarten to war.

As we plowed through sullen seas toward the "iron coast" of French Morocco, a grizzled colonel who had survived the first World War, turned to me and said:

same Colonel performed a
 Medal of Honor.

East's Successful 'First Step' Hailed At Sports Dinner

Roberts Lauds Radtke's Coaching; Birk Named MV Football Player

Post-Crescent Sports Editor

"A journey of 1,000 miles begins with one step," said Master of Ceremonies Rolfe Winter Tuesday night at Appleton East's first fall sports banquet, "and East has made a very successful first step."

Agreement was general during the Appleton Evening Lions Club sponsored banquet in the AHS-E Commons that the Patriots had indeed made a notable start in the fall sports season.

Ron Roberts, Lawrence University football coach, said, "My hat's off to (Football) Coach Claude Radtke and the Patriots. Claude did a better coaching job than I did at Lawrence even though our record (8-0) was better (than East's 4-4)."

Radtke's assessment was: "We're proud of the boys, not for the apparent reason — if anyone had asked me before the season if I'd be satisfied with a 4-4 record, I certainly would have been — but I was thinking in terms of the type of football we wanted to play and the attitude we wanted to develop."

Volleyball Coach Orv Koeppke said, "I was satisfied with the development of our team." He said that, with one exception, all his candidates were novices before the season began.

"100 Per Cent"

Joe Perez, cross country coach, declared, "We had a successful season. The boys put out 100 per cent at all times."

Fullback Tom Birk was announced as the most valuable player on the Patriot football team. He and guard Terry Calder were named honorary co-captains.

Letters were awarded to 21 football players. Senior lettermen are George Mills, Dick Miller, Keith Haase, Cliff Tierney, Bob Manwell, Scott Ferguson, Ron Balke, Steve Shepard, Steve Utschig, Bill Stroess, Blane Reichelt and Calder and Birk.

Junior football letter-winners are Bob Birkholz, Dave Brown, Paul Bowman, Kyle Mackey, Don Knaack, Vince King, Scott Wenzlaw and Ken Zelle.

Scott Schultz was announced as captain of the cross country team. He and Bill King and Jack Philippi were the seniors who won letters. Junior lettermen are Greg Foker, Bob Davies and Neal Gleason. Two sophomores — Wayne Bowers and Luke DeYoung — also won letters.

Eight letters were awarded in volleyball. Captain Ken Ferron was one of the recipients. The others are seniors Bill Luedtke, Steve Kagen and John Ernest; juniors Mark Winter, Feldheim, Ted Roelofs, and soph Greg Ehle.

"More Surprised"

In discussing East's stunning opening game football victory over Manitowish, Radtke said, "I think they (the Ships) were more surprised than anyone else. Real credit must go to the seniors who provided the leadership needed."

The football coach indicated his team played poor ball in the second game — against Green Bay West — and it was the only contest it was "completely out of the play" in every game after.

Jack Nicklaus Selected as Golfer of Year

Palmer Second; Pick Cruikshank For Fame Hall

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Beating arch-rival Arnold Palmer by a landslide, Jack Nicklaus was named the Professional Golfer of the Year Tuesday. It was one of few honors that had eluded Nicklaus during a meteoric six-year-old career.

The 27-year-old Golden Bear was in Mexico on a television commitment when the award was announced at the President's dinner, highlight of the annual meeting of the Professional Golfers' Association.

The occasion also marked the induction of Wee Bobby Cruikshank as the 38th member of golf's Hall of Fame.

UW Eyes Michigan Crucial Penalties Have Plagued UW

MADISON (AP) — You can't disregard the standings Saturday when winless Wisconsin tackles and ability to snap their losing Michigan in Camp Randall Stadium with a triumph over Michigan.

So in effect says Wisconsin Coach John Coatta.

"Our guys don't even think about last place," Coatta said of his battered Badgers. "We're just looking for a victory."

Wisconsin will limp into the Michigan contest with a 0-7-1 and 14-9, and to Ohio State 17-15 record. The Wolverines are 3-5 over all and 2-3 in the Big Ten. The Badgers and Iowa are in last place with 0-4-1 slates.

Despite his record, Coatta said his Badgers have enough desire to win. "We're not going to let the standings get to us," he said. "We're going to snap their losing streak."

In the last five games Wisconsin has been outscored by a total of only 13 points.

After falling to Pittsburgh 13-11, the Badgers came back and tied Iowa 21-21. They then lost to Northwestern 17-13, to Indiana 17-13, and to Ohio State 17-15.

Coatta noted that three of the last four touchdowns scored against Wisconsin came after penalties were assessed against the Badgers.

"Somewhere there always seemed to be a critical penalty," said Coatta. "They've hurt tremendously this year."

Against Ohio State, the Badgers lost 59 yards in penalties to 20 for the Buckeyes.

Despite this record, Coatta

NEW YORK (AP) — Carl Yastrezmski of the Boston Red Sox, coming within a single first-place vote of unanimous selection, was named the American League's Most Valuable Player for the 1967 baseball season today.

The 28-year-old outfielder, winner of the circuit's Triple Crown while leading the Red Sox to their first pennant since 1918, drew 19 votes for first place and one for second in the balloting by 20 members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Cesar Tovar, a Minnesota sparkling while playing second base, third base and center field, drew the other first-place vote, but finished in a seventh-place tie in the over-all balloting. Tovar batted .267 last season.

Yastrezmski thus failed to match the unanimously achieved St. Louis Cardinals' MVP award by Orlando Cepeda of the St. Louis Cardinals, who was named National League's MVP award for the 1968 season.

First Since 1958

Yastrezmski collected 275 points in becoming the first Red Sox player since Jackie Jensen in 1958 to take the MVP prize. Tom Schoen, a graduate of St. Norbert High School, has been named captain of the St. Norbert College football team for the 1968 season.

Unitas Regains Lead Among NFL Passers; Bakken Top Scorer

NEW YORK (AP) — It took completions. Unitas hit with 13 Johnny Unitas only 35 minutes, of 16 for 340 yards in the first to regain the lead among NFL half and also set up two other touchdowns with his passing backs with a display of superior passing last Sunday against the Atlanta Falcons.

The veteran quarterback of the Baltimore Colts completed 17 of 20 passes for 370 yards and 17 touchdowns before retiring early in the second half. He left with a string of 12 consecutive

'Frisco Has 3 Regulars Out for Year

GREEN BAY (AP) — The Green Bay Packers and San Francisco 49ers, who between them have a casualty list that could make a coach cry, hobble into action here Sunday, with John David Crow the only completely healthy regular running back on either side.

For the Packers, starting backs Elijah Pitts and Jim Grabowski are both hobbled with leg injuries. Both missed last Sunday's game with Cleveland and Pitts, now on the disabled list, is out of action for a minimum of 30 days. Grabowski is questionable for the game against the 49ers.

Others on the Green Bay injured list include defensive back Doug Hart, who suffered a small fracture in his hand but "will be able to play"; and receiver Boyd Dowler, who sprained an ankle against Cleveland, but "should be okay."

Green Bay coach Vince Lombardi, who said he wasn't too worried about Hart and Dowler, said the Packers have a history of playing "a little better when we've had an injury."

Even without their starting backfield men, the Packers managed a 55-7 triumph over Cleveland and maintain the lead in their division.

San Francisco has had poorer luck when key men were missing. After winning five of their first six games, the 49ers now have a 5-4 record.

Lists Casualties

San Francisco publicity man George McFadden Tuesday listed the 49ers casualties, which include three starters lost for the season and every running back except Crow hampered in one way or another.

Flanker Kay McFarland has a dislocated elbow. McFadden said All-pro guard John Thomas has two broken knees and tight end Monte Stickles broke his left arm two weeks ago. The three are out for the season.

As for the running backs — "Crow is our only healthy runner," McFadden said.

The other starter is Ken Wilkerson, who "sprained the arch in his left foot in the preseason and it has been a nagging injury."

Second string running backs included Gary Lewis, who "hurt his back in the second Los Angeles game"; Dave Kopay, who "suffered a knee injury against the Colts"; and rookie Doug Cunningham, who has an injured hip.

And, McFadden continued, split end Dave Parks has a pulled hamstring and backup quarterback George Mira has been waived, injured with a sprained knee.

Quarterback John Brodie is healthy and ranks 10th in NFL passing, according to league statistics released today. Packer signal-caller Bart Starr ranks third behind Brodie.

Brodie has completed 136 of 273 pass attempts for a percentage of 49.8.

Retained Positions

All of the other individual leaders retained their positions after the ninth game of the season. Cleveland's Leroy Kelly still is out front in rushing with 748 yards, an age of 64 yards over runner-up John Roland of St. Louis. With five games to go the only other man within shooting distance of the 1,000 mark is Mel Farr, the Detroit rookie, with 609 yards, and he's a long-shot.

Willie Richardson of Baltimore, the top pass catcher with a 55-7 triumph over Cleveland, has a new challenger in Jerry Smith, Washington's tight end who has made 40 catches count for eight touchdowns. The top touchdown catcher still is

Chiefs Best Rushing Team

Lead AFL With Average Gain of 153.3 Yards Per Tilt

NEW YORK (AP) — Kansas City's grind-it-out offense continues to gain much of its yardage the old-fashioned way — along the ground.

American Football League statistics released today show the Chiefs with an average of 153.3 yards gained rushing per game — tops in the league.

Mike Garrett, Curtis McClintock, Bert Coan and Gene Thomas as share the rushing load and are dangerous pass catchers too. The 1,713 yards they've gained represents 54.6 of the Chiefs' total of 3,140 yards.

Total Offense

Of the AFL's top four offenses, Kansas City's is the only one averaging less than 200 yards per game in the air. Len Dawson's passing game has averaged 195.6 yards and the overall 348.9 places the Chiefs third in total offense behind San Diego and New York.

The Jets, with Joe Namath doing the bulk of the throwing, lead in passing offense with 2,499 net yards gained while San Diego's 379.3 average yards gained per game tops that department.

On defense, Oakland's Western Division leaders, top all three categories with an average yield of 186.5 yards over-all, 69.9 rushing and 116.6 passing.

Offer Stadium Use Free

10,000-Seat Addition OK'd

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The dium for the first 1 million paid admissions in each of the first day formally approved a 10,000-25 years.

Seating Capacity

Also included in the offer was an increase in baseball seating capacity from 45,000 to 55,000 persons and an initial $3.8 million broadcasting contract.

Any major league team, including an expansion franchise, is eligible to take advantage of the offer. The most debated part of the offer was the seating expansion. Supervisor Edward W. Lane said a 10,500 seat grandstand addition proposed in 1965 would have cost $3.5 million.

The board finally agreed 14-6 to include the expansion in its offer, but no completion date was set for the addition.

Betty Cutler Slams Honor Series of 617

Raps 3 Games Over 200 Mark; Alice Patterson Jolts 561 Total

Betty Cutler, using three consecutive games over the 200 mark, banged a national honor count of 617 to lead the Ten Pin Toilers League at Hahn's Lanes Tuesday and also captured area women's kegling honors.

Mrs. Cutler is no newcomer to the national honor ranks as she had one in the same league back in January. It was Jan. 10, early this year, when she socked a 609 total.

Tuesday Mrs. Cutler fired games of 202, 211 and 204 for the 617 count. In about 25 years of bowling she has had "about 10 national honor counts." The 609 hit in January included a 267 game which was highest in the city by a woman last season.

Has 164 Average

Betty has been carrying a 164 average in the Ten Pin Toilers circuit this season which is "a little lower than in previous seasons." In addition to the ladies once-a-week loop, Mrs. Cutler and her husband Jim also compete in a couples league.

Highest national set Betty has had was a booming 667 which was recorded "quite a few years ago."

Alice Patterson blasted a 203 game and 561 series to lead the action in the Swingers League at the Twin City Bowl.

In the Hit and Miss loop at the 41 Bowl last night, Shirley Palesh had a 190 game and 542 series while Donna Larsen had a 506 set and Donna Wilz shared honors with a league-leading 195 game.

Slams 532 Series

Marge Vanderloop's 532 series set the pace in the Tuesday night Ladies League at the Little Chute Recreation Lanes. Ruth Schmidt came through with a 198 game and 510 series and other top scores included Marlene Friebe, 196 and 505 and Ethel Van Nuland 191.

Ruth Wiese and Ida Vokral shared honors in the Kitchen Cheaters League at Hahn's Lanes as the former rolled a 203 game and the latter had a 530 series. Elyn Beck had the only other honor score a 193 single-ton.

Grace DeLain had a 195 game and Marion Lappen fired a 522 series to lead the way in the Tag-a-Long League at the 41 Bowl Tuesday night.

Other top Tag-a-Long scores included Barbara Karweick 190-520, Phyllis Suehring 509, Minnie Nelson 194 and Marie Keyzers 193.

No San Francisco receiver ranks among the top pass catchers, but Dowler has shared 33 passes for 452 yards and two touchdowns to rank tenth.

Other Packers among league leaders include kicking specialist Don Chandler, who is fourth in the league in scoring with 61 points on 11 field goals and 28 extra points.

Grabowski is 12th in rushing with 448 yards on 116 carries for an average of 3.9.

Donny Anderson, who, along with Ben Wilson, has been filling in for Pitts and Grabowski, ranks third among punt return leaders with 98 yards on nine tries Anderson also is 13th in punting, with a 38.5-yard average on 40 kicks.

On defense, Bob Jeter of the Packers ranks sixth in pass interceptions with five for 57 yards er, but he blitzed the other way. As the Packers' chartered bus rumbled from the airport to a downtown Baltimore hotel the afternoon of Nov. 4, Jerry Kramer pondered the following: The off tackle, Frank Parker, came across and I cut him down. "We were lying there on the ground for the minute, our faces day's assignment against the close together, and I was smil-unbeaten Colts and soberly ob-ing Parker, who is a nice, served. "The next three games country boy type of kid from should tell whether or not we Oklahoma. saw the smile and he have it." said. "You old boys are just "The way things have been having a picnic today, aren't going this season, we've been you?" They couldn't under-wondering a little about it stand it either."

The four-time all pro, who missed most of the 1964 season with an intestinal infection that was followed by eight operations last Sunday's spectacularly con-which eventually resulted in the removal of wood splinters from his abdomen, says he is unable to accurately assess his '67 performance at this point.

Suffered in Silence "It's a difficult thing for me to evaluate," he said. "My blocking satisfying," said the highly flugrades aren't what they should be, but I feel I've been playing who has suffered in silence — about as well as I ever have ... along with his colleagues on the I think my speed is as good as Packer offense — as many of it's ever been."

"And I feel good," said the medical marvel, who has weath-ered an incredible string of the relatively advanced age of childhood mishaps, a broken leg and surgery for a detached retina in addition to that pro-tracted bout with infection. "I seldom have felt as good. I don't know don't get as tired as I used to — how much was proved against I used to get extremely tired in the Browns, but it was gratify- some games."

"With just an even amount of breaks — and just without any bad ones — I think we have the talent to do it."

Shocked Pack, Too Reflecting upon that record-laden decimation of the Browns, Jerry chuckled. "It shocked us almost as much as it did them. We'd come off the field, look at each other and shrug our shoulders, as much as to say, 'What's going on out there?'"

"I've never seen anything like it, except maybe that '58 Balti- more game, when they beat us 56-0. I was on the kickoff return team then and I lined up each time against Johnny Sample, whom I had played with in the College All Star game that year. Jack Nicklaus Golfer of Year

World Cup matches at Mexico City, is expected to return here Thursday to take his place as a newly elected member of the PGA tournament committee.

He beat out Palmer by better than 2-1 in the balloting on Player of the Year by PGA members and golf writers. Don January, 1966 PGA champion, was a remote third among 32 players drawing votes.

Smashes Records

Nicklaus, youngest player ever to win the Masters, the PGA championship and the U.S. Open, has already smashed all money-winning records on the 1967 tour.

His official earnings for the year—in tournaments sanctioned by the PGA—now stand at $188,996 far surpassing his own mark of $140,752 set in 1965. He has amassed an additional $72,568 in unofficial tournaments and the World Series of Golf for a whopping $261,566.

His official total since he turned pro in 1961 now places him second behind Palmer on the lifetime money-winning list—and Palmer was a pro when Jack was only a sophomore in high school. Winning six major titles this year, Nicklaus moved ahead of Billy Casper, another veteran.

Nicklaus, who calls nearby lost Tree Village his home, has captured three Masters titles, two U.S. Open championships, the PGA championship, the British Open and 24 official PGA tournaments.

Post-Crescent to Help Journalism Students

The Post-Crescent and the University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center will provide a combination scholarship-internship program for journalism students at the Center, it was announced today.

The Post-Crescent will award two $250 scholarships beginning with the fall semester. One Dr. Harry M. Hutson, Center grant will go to an entering freshman and the other to a returning sophomore.

In addition to the financial help, The Post-Crescent will also provide on-the-job experience in newspaper work. Scholarship winners will have the opportunity to work as Post-Crescent interns part-time during the academic year and summer vacations.

Must Live in Area
Scholarship awards will be based on academic achievement, scholastic newspaper experience and career plans. Candidates must live in The Post-Crescent circulation area and must have a serious intention to pursue a newspaper career.

The scholarship grants will cover the students' tuitions and cover the students' tuition and fees. Recipients are to be chosen by a center scholarship committee.

Those selected for the scholarship-internship program would be expected to take courses leading to a journalism major and to work on The Valley Voice, Center student newspaper.

Deer Hunting Contest on At Thilmany

KAUKAUNA — The Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co. will sponsor its 14th annual deer hunting contest for employees. Four awards will be given, according to Norbert F. Gerend, manager of personnel.

Animals may be taken by rifle or bow and entries must include a photo of the trophy. Prizes will be for the largest and second largest buck, widest rack and smallest buck. Weight is determined after the deer is dressed out.

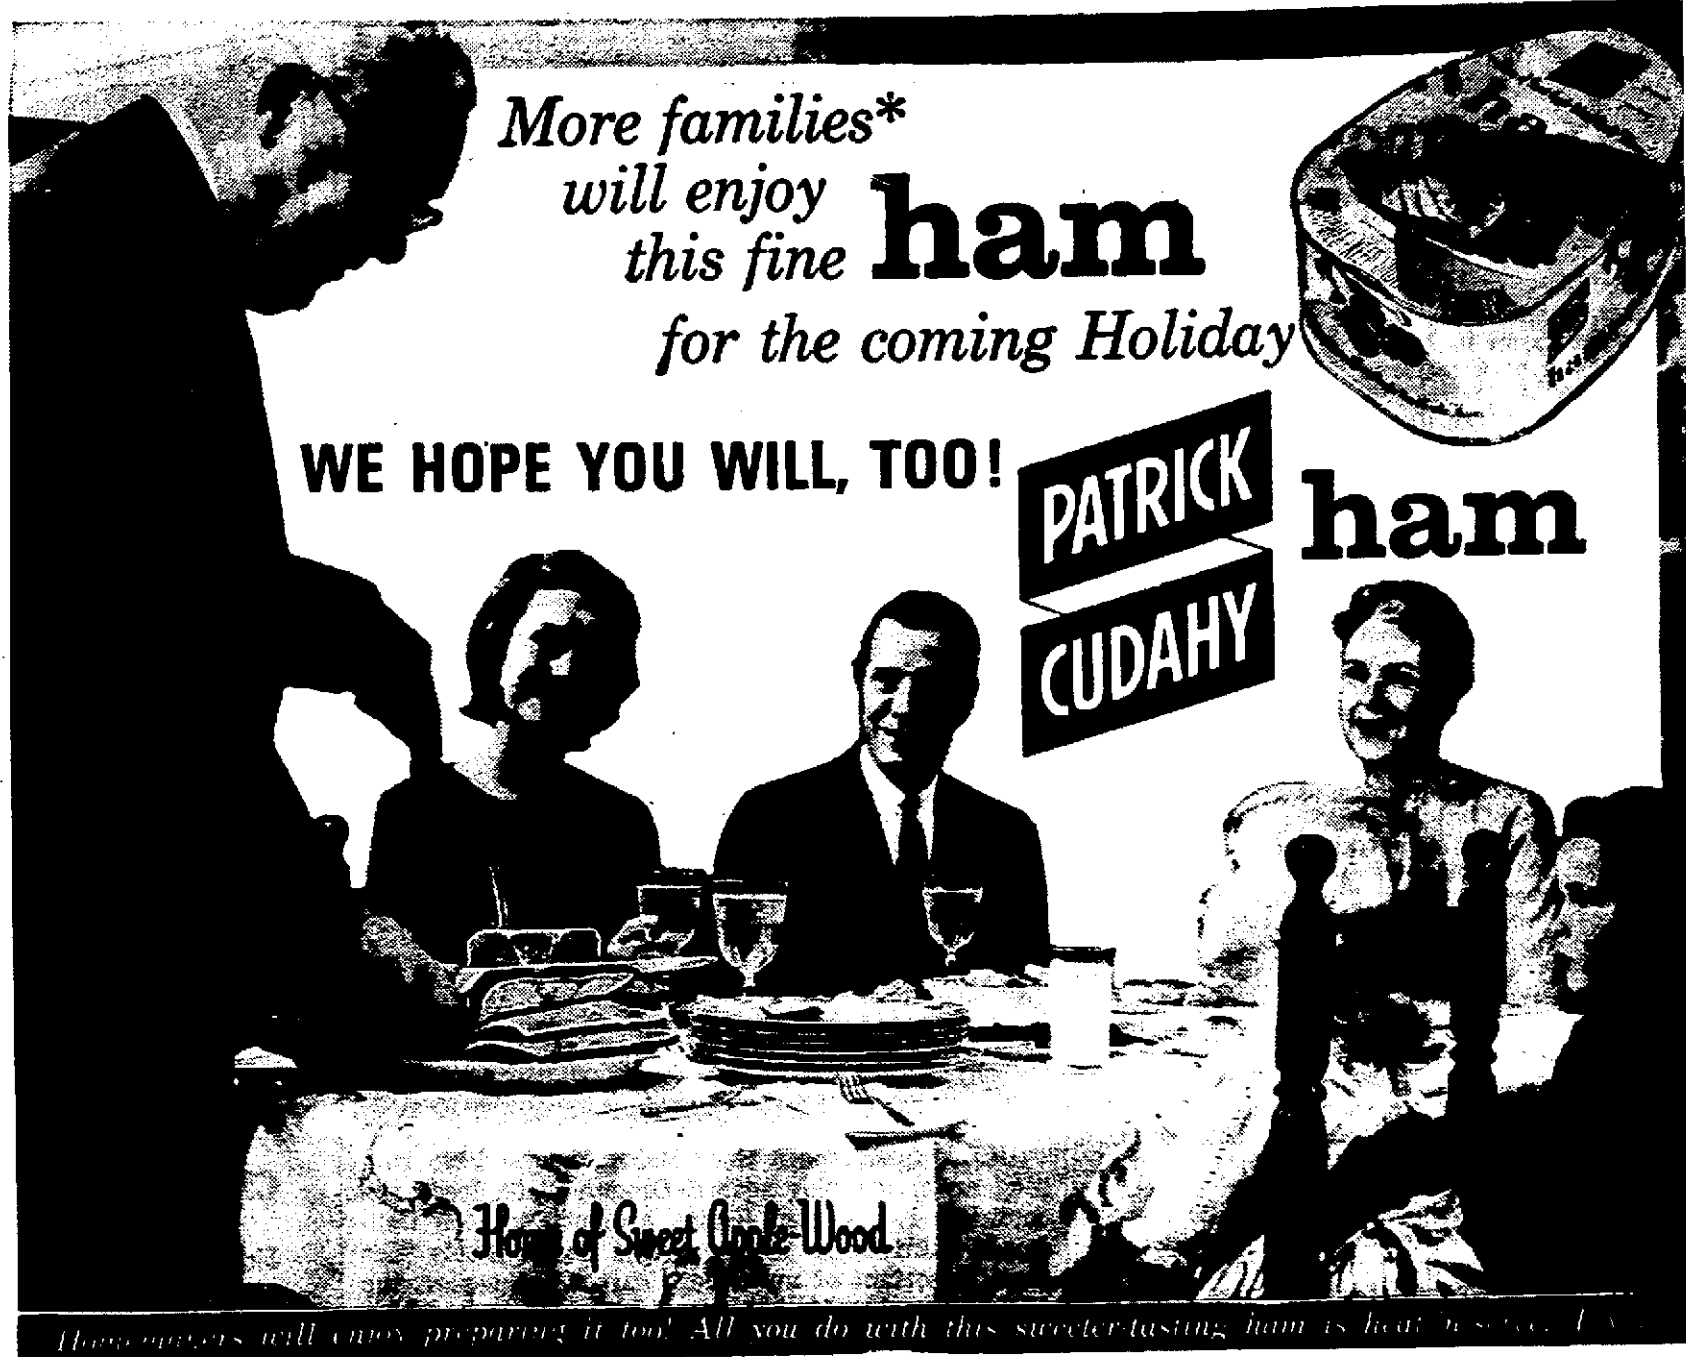

Animals must be weighed at Benotch Fuel and Supply Co., where entry blanks are available.

Rare Blood Collected In Four States to Permit Open Heart Surgery

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — Residents of four states have contributed a rare type of blood so that Mrs. Wanda Newton, 35, will be able to undergo open heart surgery in Oklahoma City today.

Mrs. Newton, of Trousdale, Okla. has AB-negative type of blood. The operation was postponed in August because enough of the rare blood could not be found.

Seven persons in Wichita Falls each gave a pint of blood. Two more pints came from Wichita, Kan., two from Springfield, Mo., and one from Oklahoma City.

Our grocery store is really two stores. One, the huge center section where "dry" groceries are displayed. Two, the "perishable" departments along the outer walls.

Perishables add variety and glamour to your menu . . . items like tender, juicy U.S. Choice meats; vegetables so fresh you can almost hear them crackle; ripe luscious fruits rushed to us at the peak of perfection; pastry goods, fresh baked daily in our own on-the-premise Ye Olde Pastry Kitchen . . . so good you won't bother to bake; a frozen food department second to none, giving you a complete variety of the finest national brands of frozen foods available.

On the two following pages, you will learn more about our lowest-price-possible formula for our center section. On this page we're introducing you to a few of the specials we're offering this week. (We made some good buys and we're passing the savings on to you).

*In Our Food Department's Huge Center Section.

Only Copps dares to sell thousands of grocery items at the lowest possible prices over our invoice costs allowed by state of Wisconsin law. Not just one item, a half dozen so-called "loss leaders", but every single brand name product in our huge center section. Not one day, but day after day after day. No sales ever, since all prices in the center section are the lowest we're permitted to sell. Always! Every day everything is on sale.

How is this done? One, by the volume of sales we expect to get because of our lowest-price-possible policy. Another, by low overhead and low promotional expense . . . no stamps, no games, no giveaways. Just lowest legal grocery prices. A third, because we think it's the right way to sell groceries . . . it's our way of helping to hold down the increasingly high cost of living.

(Frankly, anyone else could sell groceries at these low prices. So far, we're the only ones who are willing to go all the way. We're gambling that you'll like our lowest-price-possible formula. And that, once you've visited us, you'll shop often at our food department.)

So come on in. Compare prices. If you like what you see (and we're certain you will), we hope you'll come back again and again and be a regular customer.

The prices and quality of our perishable departments along the outer walls . . . meat, produce, dairy, bakery, will also please you. See the previous page for a few that we feel are particularly good buys this week.

Stockbridge Agrees to Let VTE-12 Use Area Facilities

STOCKBRIDGE — Facilities without a free period or study for vocational school courses to hall session, which required him be taught at the high school, as to prepare for all his classes requested by Dominic Bordini, after school.

The $1 a day increase for transporting handicapped children to Forest Junction carried out by Mrs. Arthur Daun, approved last month was disallowed, after the motion was rescinded. The board explained to Mrs. Daun, that after consideration they had concluded her salary of $550 a day was adequate.

Maintenance of the car used by Mrs. Daun and Norbert Dohr, who transports students to the vocational program in Brillhon, was assigned to Dohr. An increase of 25 cents an hour was approved for the school secretary.

Bordini met with Supv. Paul Dobias, several board members and other residents of the community recently, and explained the program to them. A variety of courses could be given in area high schools, depending on the interest and facilities available, Bordini said. Some of the subjects would be without charge, while others not eligible for aid would require a small fee. The vocational district would provide teachers, or would hire local teachers with the necessary qualifications with no cost to the high school district, it was explained.

The board agreed that facilities were available here for home economics subjects, business education and some industrial arts. While the district may charge for the use of facilities, including utilities and janitorial services, the board made no decision on the amount it would request. "We would just be happy to have some courses here and see how it goes," one member said.

Publish Selection
After the report on the facilities available is submitted to the area vocational department, a selection of courses could be published and a survey taken to determine if a sufficient number of students would be interested.

Richard Demler reported he had contacted village officials regarding payment of $250 towards the upkeep of the athletic field as agreed at the last meeting, and the funds would be paid by the village.

Board Chairman Edgar Daun, said he would announce the name of the new board member at the Dec. 21 meeting to replace Earl Hemauer, who resigned last month because he is leaving the district.

In other action permission was given assistant coach, Kurt Hoffmeister, to install a bounding board and brackets for basketball in the gym. The board will be made in the school shop and it was suggested that metal be obtained locally and a student undertake construction of the brackets.

Additional Salary
As requested last month Leon Wolfe, driver education instructor, was given an additional $200 for teaching students after school who were unable to fit the course into their schedules. It was pointed out that Wolfe had undertaken the course in addition to his industrial arts and agriculture classes, leaving him erated they had concluded her salary of $550 a day was adequate.

The lake lot development project is the first of a number of industrial and recreation projects planned by Menominee Enterprises in hopes of raising the county's tax base and providing more employment opportunities.

Draws Opposition
The hearing, held in the Brown County Courthouse Annex, provided testimony from the plan, but drew opposition from a number of residents of the Keshena and Neopit areas.

David Kamper, a civil engineer with the Soil Conservation Service who designed the West Lake dam, testified the project would cost between $25,000 and $30,000. He said an 18-foot earthen dam would develop a 12-foot head for the lake behind it. The lake would flood an area consisting mostly of brush and swamp to a total area of 230 acres.

The engineer also said flow readings and personal observation led him to believe the stream, an outlet of Wahtoah Lake, would provide sufficient water to fill the proposed flowage and maintain a relatively stable lake level.

New Shoreline
He testified the dam would have no power producing capabilities, and would be strictly to raise the water level to create new shoreline areas.

The economic importance of the project was stressed by pointed out warranty deeds are Gordon Bubolz of Appleton, a row available with close to member of the board of directors of Menominee Enterprises cottage sites on other lakes in and chairman of the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning and used to finance West Lake Commission and other new developments.

Useless Land
After several of the Menominees present asked if the tribe could afford the dam, Bubolz

Warning that Menominee County is faced with "economic being sought when 82 lakes evaporation," Bubolz said the already exist in the county, West Lake project could add up Bubolz pointed out that relative to $10 million to the county's tax ly useless land would be flooded base and help offset the rising cost of government. The new lake would provide an estimated 300 cottage sites.

Menominee Enterprises President A. D. Clements told the examiner that the corporation would have no problem in financing the construction and maintenance of the proposed dam. He said total development costs have not been determined, but he said bids for clearing of the area to be flooded have already been advertised.

About 10 Menominees, including the officers of the Citizens Association for the Advancement of the Menominee People, appeared in opposition to the dam.

This Repeat Refreshing
Conversation of Eric Hoffer Worth Hearing Even Again

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The second time around isn't always a bit of a bore. In mid-September, when the three television networks were busily introducing their new schedules, CBS' weekly news hour was devoted to a conversation with a man named Eric Hoffer.

Although he had written several books, Hoffer was not exactly a household word. And, between a star-studded old movie and Milton Berle on the "Hollywood Palace," a lot of people missed Eric Sevareid's interview with Hoffer. It caused quite a stir among those who did see it—including the President of the United States—and the network thoughtfully rebroadcast the program Tuesday night.

Hoffer is 65, self-educated and a longshoreman until his mandatory retirement a few months ago. He is a man so full of ideas and wisdom that almost every sentence was meaty.

Life Glorious
He talked, mostly, about the joy of work and the glory of the working classes. It was simple talk and infinitely refreshing.

On writing: "I think some of the most original ideas I had came to me while I was working. What a glorious feeling it is. Here you work, you talk to your partner, and in the back of your head you compose sentences. That's when life is glorious."

On working men: "These people are tremendously intelligent and there isn't an idea in the world that I wouldn't discuss with these people."

On brotherhood: "It's much easier to love humanity as a whole than to love one's neighbor."

For Common People
On America: "The only people who really feel at home in this country are the common people. America is God's gift to the poor—for the first time in history the common people could do things on their own."

On youth: "If it wasn't for the question of drugs, I would be all for the hippies because it's a healthy reaction against the rat race."

Along the way he predicted Lyndon B. Johnson would be "the foremost President of the 20th century," inveighed against intellectuals and asserted that the current Negro foment was used "as an instrument by the Negro middle class to fulfill its own desires."

He is a man of original ideas and convictions and Sevareid had little to do as an interviewer beyond steering him into an assortment of subjects. It was a fine hour, and it could be repeated still another time.

Racine Charges Cost Chilton Motorist $30
CHILTON — David Coopman, Clay Street, Chilton, was arrested Monday by Calumet County Sheriff Irvin Vice, on a warrant charged with failure to appear for a traffic violation.

Coopman paid a fine of $30 and Racine County authorized his release.

Shiocton Names Honor Students
SHIOCTON — Eight freshmen were among 19 students named to the A honor roll for the first nine weeks at the high school.

not really!

Take A&P's "Super-Right" Turkeys, for example.
Because we understand how important the turkey is to your dinner, we do everything possible to be sure there are none finer than "Super-Right" Turkeys.

To assure perfect turkeys, we buy only U.S. Inspected Grade "A" birds.
To assure tenderness, we buy only young turkeys from this year's flock.
Because we care this much about "Super-Right" Turkeys, we know you can't buy better... even at a premium price.
So, we don't hesitate to offer you DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK if our turkey isn't everything you think it should be.

Now that you know you can't lose on the turkey,
here's something else that's important:
If you make A&P your store for all holiday needs, you're sure to be satisfied, because we guarantee everything we sell, no matter who makes it.

Funds Sought for Dairy Promotions

A state order could replace the present voluntary solicitation by the American Dairy Association (ADA), and require all dairymen to pay. Less than half of Wisconsin's milk producers are contributing now.

In other actions at its 48th annual convention, delegates:

Product Research — Favored research to improve butter and other dairy products, and to develop new products.

— Called for a uniform minimum beer drinking age of 21.

— Deplored a growing trend of violence, riots and disrespect for law enforcement.

— Wrangled fruitlessly for nearly three hours over a proposed dues increase and voted for a special meeting to consider raising dues to $10.

Officials felt it might cost about $3,000.

Percy Hardiman, Hartland, is back in as president, starting his 10th term. He was elected without opposition by the board of directors.

He was re-elected without opposition by the board of directors.

Farmers supporting the ADA program for promotion and research are contributing two cents for every hundred pounds of milk they produce.

That brought about $1.2 million in Wisconsin last year, against a potential of about $3 million.

Contributions several years back had been as high as $1.5 million.

Market Development — The Farm Bureau expressed alarm "at the reluctance of dairymen to invest a percentage of their sales dollars comparable to what other food and non-food industries do for market development."

The resolution said every dairy farmer ought to support the ADA. That was in full harmony with Farm Bureau policy, but an amendment offered from the floor proposed a state marketing order with automatic checkoffs at dairy plants.

"Let's not start Farm Bureau on the road to compulsion. Let's see if we can't persuade the farmers to support the ADA," argued Sam Stanchfield, Fond du Lac.

Others agreed. They favored promotion, they said, but they didn't want to be forced to contribute.

Edgar Rudolph, Sturgeon Bay, argued that they wouldn't be compromising their principles.

He pointed out that no marketing order could go into effect without a referendum.

"It's the same as voting for a new school. Let's say the vote is 60 to 40 per cent in favor. If you want to be so democratic, perhaps the 40 per cent shouldn't have to pay," Rudolph quipped.

The Farm Bureau evidently will have no difficulty making formal request for an order. A hearing must be called by the secretary of agriculture on the application of 5 per cent or 100 of the producers of a commodity. If the hearing indicates sufficient interest, a producer referendum is conducted.

Assembly Gladly Supports Tougher Assault Penalties

MADISON (AP) — A bill calling for stiff penalties for persons convicted of assaulting policemen, and firemen has been overwhelmingly passed by the Wisconsin Assembly.

The measure was introduced Oct. 19, one day after the violent antiwar demonstration on the University of Wisconsin campus during on-campus recruitment by Dow Chemical Co., maker of napalm for the war in Vietnam.

Under the bill, an attempt to assault an officer could bring a one year jail term. Actual battery could bring a maximum of two years in jail.

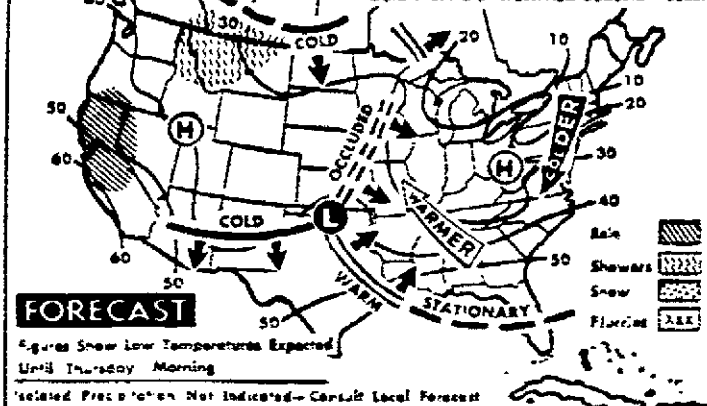

The present assault statute calls for a maximum of a $200 fine and six months in jail. The bill sailed through to the Senate Tuesday night on a 92-6 vote.

New Respect For Law in Riot Cities

Post-Crescent News Service
MILWAUKEE — The nation must "move on to new ap-proaches on a new scale" in counteracting widespread disrespect for the law — particularly in riot-prone cities, the president-elect of the American Bar Association said here Tuesday.

William E. Gossett, former general counsel for the Ford Motor Co., spoke at the noon luncheon of the 73rd annual conference of the National Municipal League.

"An indispensable ingredient of a free society," Gossett said, "is for all men to respect the law and the law to respect all men equally."

Speaking on control of mob violence, the Detroit lawyer called on the public and the legal profession in particular to show "that the law is the servant, not the despot of all people."

Over 500 representatives of government, business and industry are attending the annual session. The conference includes 25 workshops on such subjects as constitutional convention, financial problems, apportionment and political leadership.

Also included is the presentation of cases by 22 cities in competition for the league's and Look Magazine's annual All-America Cities award.

Green Bay was the first Wisconsin winner in 1965. This year's award will be announced next spring.

Talk by Rusk Picketed in War Protest

Mob Has Running Battle With Police
In New York City

NEW YORK (AP) — Screaming mobs of antiwar pickets clashed with police in a sporadic running street battle Tuesday night as they protested a speech-making appearance by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Police counted at least 45 persons arrested from the crowd they estimated at some 3,000. Five policemen and an undetermined number of civilians were injured.

The violence broke out in front of the New York Hilton Hotel, on Sixth Avenue in midtown Manhattan, where Rusk was addressing a dinner meeting of the foreign Policy Association.

Renewing his offer to the North Vietnamese government to "negotiate today without condition," Rusk told an audience of 1,200 "if a representative of Hanoi would make himself available anywhere to discuss peace I would be there."

"Scrap of Paper"

He chided opponents of the war who, he said, "would brush aside a security treaty as a scrap of paper," urging his listeners to "reflect soberly on the dangers which would arise if it should be discovered that our security treaties do not mean what they say."

Departing from his prepared text he took note of the demonstrators and challenged "those who carry the banner, 'Peace in Vietnam,'" to produce a representative of North Vietnam willing to negotiate.

Heavy police guards prevented the demonstrators from effective harassment of the dinner proceedings and elements of the crowd circulated up and down Sixth Avenue and over as far as Times Square.

There, theatergoers found themselves trapped in stores and restaurants as the crowds of demonstrators swarmed over the sidewalks and taunted mounted police. The windshield of one cab was kicked in.

The crowd cheered when the moving news sign on the Allied Chemical Tower said: "Demonstrators Picket Secretary of State Rusk" and yelled obscenities when a later item said, "Johnson says U.S. Peace Offer Shows Who is Interested."

Mortars Rock Dak To Camp

SAIGON (AP) — Three heavy North Vietnamese mortar attacks, hours apart, rocked the U.S. 4th Infantry Division's forward base camp at Dak To today and explosions of the main ammunition dump spread fire through the valley of that central highlands stronghold.

Shell bursts rocketed flames 1,000 feet into the air. Associated Press correspondent John Lengel, reporting on the third attack of the day about 9 p.m., said widespread fires lighted the night sky.

Base on Alert

The entire base complex, which includes an airfield, a Special Forces Camp and a brigade headquarters of the 4th Division, was on the alert for a possible all-out ground assault by the North Vietnamese.

Mortar shells had quickly destroyed two U.S. C130 transport planes, which are work horses in the ferrying of war supplies, and damaged another.

Flames erupting from the exploding ammunition dump spread quickly through a Montagnard village of thatched huts 200 yards away.

About 500 women and children, dependents of Montagnard irregulars based at a nearby Special Forces camp, were quickly removed by U.S. armored personnel carriers.

Although the ammunition dump was the main supply point for U.S. forces in an area where hard fighting has raged since Nov. 3, American officers said they had enough ammunition on hand to withstand a major attack "and we can get more."

Northeast of Dak To in the coastal lowlands, Communist gunners shot down their third U.S. helicopter in two days, killing eight Americans. But around the highlands town where thousands of North Vietnamese and American troops have been battling since Nov. 1, the chief attacks were with mortars, artillery and planes for the second successive day.

The North Vietnamese made two mortar attacks on the Dak To airstrip, which they had shelled three times in the past two weeks.

The first attack, in the morning, lasted two hours. In it the two C130s were destroyed, a third was damaged, and three South Vietnamese troops were reported wounded.

Second Shelling

The second shelling began shortly before dark and lasted about an hour. An officer in charge of the ammunition dump estimated there were 500 tons of stores in it, ranging from rifle place during afternoon or evening on at least four occasions reported to Yale authorities.

Three of the foot-kissed girls have been graduate students. The fourth was a professor's wife.

'Haunts Stacks'

"Phantom Foot Nibbler Haunts Sterling Stacks" said a headline in Tuesday's Yale Daily News.

Campus police are looking for a white male, 160-170 pounds, with blond hair and a fair complexion, who is "probably an emotionally disturbed person," said Yale Security Director John Powell.

But the News implied in its story Tuesday that the situation may be less than disastrous.

"He knows how to pick them," concluded the student newspaper after an observer had looked at the girls.

Vows, 'I'll be Back'

Shirley Temple Soundly Beaten

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — "I'll be back," said former child movie star Shirley Temple Black.

Mrs. Black, a housewife and mother of three had just conceded defeat in her bid to represent California's 11th Congressional District in the House of Representatives. Her victor was Paul N. McCloskey, a Korean war hero who advocates American disengagement from the Vietnam war.

McCloskey, 40, Navy Cross and Silver Star winner, faces Democrat Roy A. Archibald, 47, in a Dec. 12 runoff election.

'Lollipop Sinks'

LONDON (AP) — Shirley Temple Black's election defeat was reported by the London Evening News today under this front page headline: "The Sinking of the Good Ship Lollipop."

They will contend for San Mateo County's 11th District seat vacated by the death of the late J. Arthur Younger, a Republican.

"My First Race"

Mrs. Black told her supporters, "I will be back. This was my first race and now I know how the game is played. I plan to dedicate my life and energies to public service because I think my country needs it now more than ever."

With all of San Mateo County's 575 precincts counted today, McCloskey rolled up 52,373 votes to 34,521 for Mrs. Black.

Archibald polled 15,069 votes against 8,813 for Edward M. Keating, his nearest Democratic rival.

The campaign confrontation on Vietnam between McCloskey and Mrs. Black, 39, was mainly on the Vietnam issue.

She urged leaving conduct of the war to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, "the experienced military leaders of the United States."

In a victory statement, McCloskey declared voters had endorsed his ideas "for pressing for negotiations to gradually disengage U.S. forces from Vietnam."

Archibald, the Democratic nominee, also is a critic of present Vietnam policy.

'Stop Bombing'

"We should stop our bombing of the North and carry on an all-out diplomatic offensive to bring about peace negotiations," he said.

Mrs. Black said she offered her congratulations to the winners of the field of four Republican and six Democratic contenders.

"I might even see them next year, who knows," she concluded, hinting she may run again in the June 1968 primary.

The Dec. 12 winner will serve out the unexpired remainder of Younger's term—through Jan. 6, 1969.

Advised of Mrs. Black's hint McCloskey said, "she's too much of a party unity girl. I think she'll change her mind."

In the open primary, registered Democrats were free to vote for Republicans and vice versa.

Mrs. Black's bid apparently suffered by a division of Republican conservative voting among herself and William H. Draper, son of a retired Army general, advocated all-out prosecution of the Vietnam war.

Mrs. Black's backers included Bing Crosby and wealthy West Coast industrial executives.

Two Murder Counts Filed Against Leroux

STEVENS POINT — The son of a rural Amherst couple who were believed to have perished in their flaming home Nov. 8 was charged today with two counts of first degree murder.

Portage County Dist. Atty. Wendell Crosby filed the charges late this morning against 18-year-old Mark Leroux. The petition in County Court charged that Leroux had slain his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Leroux.

Their bodies were found in the burned-out ruin of their 1½-story home south of Amherst, just off County Trunk D.

Earlier reports had said that Mark and his 16-year-old sister Jeanette had unsuccessfully tried to awaken their parents when fire was discovered in the home about 3 a.m.

Mark Leroux said he wanted to plead innocent to the two counts of first degree murder.

County Judge James H. Levi appointed Robert C. Jenkins to represent Leroux, set preliminary hearing for Nov. 20 and ordered the youth held without bond.

The warrants issued shortly before the court appearance did not specify how Leroux is alleged to have slain his parents, but said the killings had been described by "a reliable witness," whom Judge Jenkins said was Jeanette.

Crosby would not release any further information as to why the first-degree murder warrant was being filed, but he said that no charges were going to be entered against any other member of the family.

County Coroner Joseph Bodziszewski was unavailable for comment as to cause of death of Mr. and Mrs. Leroux.

The younger Leroux was in custody today of county officials. He had been living at a residence in Stevens Point before and after the fire. His sister was staying with the neighbors whose telephone she had used to call the fire department the morning of the blaze. The residence — owned by Frank Budzbanowski — is 1½ miles from the site of the fire.

Sleeping on Couch

Mark reportedly "just happened" to be home on the night of the blaze, earlier reports stated. He allegedly was sleeping on a couch.

Senate Starts Work On Social Security

Huge Benefits, Tax Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Social Security bill proposing the biggest cash benefit increase in history—and the highest tax law, $25.5 billion in Social Security—heads for Senate debate with Democratic leaders pushing for passage before Thanksgiving.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield set the start of floor consideration on the bulky measure for this afternoon.

As sent to the floor by the Senate Finance Committee after more than two months of consideration the bill would, as of April 15 next year:

- Increase the amount of Social Security checks for all 23 million Americans now receiving benefits by at least 15 per cent.

- Raise from $44 to $70 the minimum monthly benefit, a 58 per cent increase. Because of the large percentage boost in minimums, the over-all benefit increases would average nearly 19 per cent.

- Increase total benefits paid by $3.5 billion next year and $5.8 billion in 1969. Under present law, benefits would be paid out $290.40 a year to $352 in 1968 and $422.40 in 1969.

- Boost maximum taxes for individuals, and for employers who must match employee contributions, from the present $290.40 a year to $352 in 1968 and $422.40 in 1969.

Mansfield expressed confidence the bill would clear the Senate and go to conference with the House before the Thanksgiving recess scheduled to begin a week from today.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen told newsmen that he expects Senate action to be completed on the bill by noon today.

$1.485 Million Plan To Hike Taxes $2.80 Per $1,000

WEYAUWEGA — Voters in the joint school district approved a $1.485 million building program in a special referendum Tuesday.

A breakdown of the vote at the two polls shows Fremont 178 yes, 213 no, and Weyauwega 504 yes, 154 no.

A three-year senior high school will be constructed on property presently owned by the district and should be ready for use in 1969. The present high school building will be converted to a junior high for grades 7-9.

Additions will be made to the elementary schools at Weyauwega and Fremont for kindergarten through sixth grade with completion set for the fall of the 1968. After the additions are completed, three outlying schools will be closed. They are the Tustin, Evanswood and Wolf River schools.

Rented classroom space at the Fremont town hall, the First Presbyterian Church at Weyauwega and the scout house at Weyauwega will no longer be needed. The building program will increase taxes $2.80 per $1,000 of equalized valuation.

Brillion Lions Urge Site for Recreation

BRILLION — A Lions Club special council session Tuesday recommended that the city purchase or rent the former Kleiber restaurant to a $40,000 addition to the existing house a temporary community recreation center was discussed at a city council meeting here Monday.

A contingent of Lions who appeared at the session said their group and the Jaycees were in favor of establishing a recreation center in the downtown area to be used by "oldsters and youngsters" until the city's proposed $450,000 center is built. Completion date of the new recreation center hinges on site allocation and the type of funds that will be used to finance it.

The Kleiber building and other land and buildings in the same area are presently being appraised to determine value for city negotiation to purchase. The area involved is a mid-city site suggested by planners Candeb, Fleissig and Associates as an ideal location for the new recreation facility.

Suggest Director
The Lions suggested that the city consider hiring a part-time recreation director for the temporary center. Lions Club funds would pay for fixtures in the Kleiber building, necessary painting or paneling and some equipment, members said.

Purchase or rental costs for the building, a director's salary and utilities would be city obligation. Money is not appropriated in the 1968 proposed budget for these specific purposes. Mayor Clarence Wolf said. The proposed city budget will be aired, and possibly adopted, at a public hearing and

December Decision Eyed

Calumet to Study Need For Full-Time Investigator

CHILTON — The feasibility of a full-time Calumet County investigator is in the hands of the protection of persons and property committee, following Tuesday's board session.

Board Chairman G. J. Hipke indicated that the committee along with Dist. Atty. Franklin Schmieder, Sheriff Irvin Vice will study the need and make a recommendation at the December board session. Presently the county has only a part-time investigator.

Question on the need arose in the October session but was tabled for further study.

A statistical report on investigatory needs, compiled from records in the Sheriff's office, was presented to the board by protection committee chairman Supv. Ray Rusch.

Court Decisions

It stated that recent court decisions have necessitated treating juvenile matters the same as adult investigations. This means, the report indicated, a minimum of one day investigation for each case before it is brought into court. Some cases require several days of investigation.

Other statistics showed that 48 juveniles have been confined in 1967, as of Nov. 1, compared with 18 in 1966. Seventy adults were confined last year compared with 88 this year.

Total confinement in 1966 was 535 days compared with 712 so far this year.

The report did not include

Calumet Refers Tower Zoning

CHILTON — A petition from Stephen J. Di Loreto, a Neenah realtor, to rezone 12 acres of land in the Town of Harrison from agriculture to commercial district was referred by the Calumet County Board to its zoning committee Tuesday.

The petition indicated the land, located near the Red Star School, would be used for construction of a communications tower. Di Loreto declined to elaborate on what the tower was for. He said full disclosure could be made in about two months.

Moose Lodge Plans 5th District Meeting At Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — The Moose lodge here will be hosts of a meeting of the Fifth District, Loyal Order of Moose, at 8 p.m. Thursday with members expected to attend from Green Bay, Appleton, Kaukauna and Two Rivers in addition to Clintonville.

Sylvester Spraskey, Green Bay, Fifth District vice president, will be present. Reports on the state Moose convention at Chippewa Falls will be given. Plans for the coming year will be discussed.

ber board session. Presently the process paper serving, miles traveled for investigation, office paperwork, general communications and telephone communications. It was noted that 700 letters and 12,030 telephone calls had been used this year.

Metropolitan Area

Schmieder said the "statistics would be greater if the number of complaints through my office were added."

"Calumet lies within a metropolitan area and we are no longer small in operation," he pointed out. He said surrounding counties had their own problems in the past but these are now spilling over into Calumet.

He added that a tremendous growth is expected in the area in the next ten years, making a 1-man sheriff's office impractical.

In other action the board heard a report by Supv. Mrs. Don Butler, regarding the eleven member volunteer committee known as the "Mental Health and Mental Retardation Advisory Committee". The Rev. Quentin Moeschberger of United Church of Christ is chairman and the Rev. Duane Dionne, pastor at St. Marys Parish, secretary. The group is studying the feasibility of a "Shelter Workshop" and a social worker for the county.

The group is volunteers working for the best interests of the county, according to Mrs. Butler.

The board went on record as "having no opposition" to incorporation of the Village of Sherwood.

It approved the adoption of the report of the salary committee boosting salaries of the highway department an average of about 26 cents.

Driver Fined After Car Hits Bridge

WAUPACA — Mrs. Linda Hilker, 20, Royalton, driver of a car that crashed into a section of a railroad bridge Oct. 23 east of Waupaca on State 54 appeared in Municipal Justice court Monday and pleaded guilty to charges of failure to have her vehicle under control and driving without a valid drivers license.

Mrs. Hilker, who suffered cuts and bruises in the early morning accident, paid a $100 fine for failure to have her car under control and $25 and costs for not having a valid drivers license.

Waupaca Accepts Park Site

WAUPACA — The Waupaca County park system was expanded Monday when County Board supervisors accepted as a gift 22 acres of parkland on the Little Wolf River from the Village of Big Falls.

The property was once owned by the Wisconsin Power and Light Co. and is part of a parcel purchased by the Village of Big Falls. A portion of the original site will be retained by the village and subdivided into building lots. Supv. Carl Much said at last Friday's meeting that the 22 acres which were offered to the county would make an excellent county park. If retained by the village constant pressures by people seeking building sites could result in the loss of the land for park purposes.

Unanimous Vote

Supervisors were unanimous in their vote to accept the property when an official resolution was presented Monday. The site consists of two parcels of land. One 15 acre piece is located east of county trunks E and G. The other's a seven acre piece south of the highway. The site overlooks a scenic section of white water of the Little Wolf River.

There is a two story brick building which was once a power house. The dam which was part of the original village purchase is being retained by the village.

No Time Limit

The development of the new park, according to the resolution, will be left to the discretion of the county and no time limit has been set on planning or developing the new facility.

The new park will be added to the county park system which includes camping parks at Keller Park, Marion, Gillis Landing near Weyauwega, and Fleese Park on the Little Wolf, west of Northport. The county also has a picnic park in the Chain O' Lakes area.

At the Friday meeting it was suggested that the new Big Falls Park should be developed as a picnic park and not as a camping park.

Finances Approved, Withdrawn

POTTER — Whether this community will be able to start construction of municipal sewage facilities by April, or be required to file another application for funds, is foremost in the minds of the town sanitary board composed of LeRoy Kleist, Winford Kasper and Wilbur Wunrow.

Though promised a $50,000 Farmers Home Administration (FHA) loan and an FHA grant amounting to $54,600 to be paid April 5 of this year, funds still have not been received.

After several requests, the board's application was approved by the State Board of Health, Madison. The board was informed by E. H. Jorris, M.D., that, if installation of the sewage facilities had not commenced after two years, a new application must be filed.

Cost of the total project was last estimated at $142,700 with the district's contribution listed at $23,100.

Original Order

The original order, issued in 1952 by the former State Committee on Water Pollution, now the Board of Resource Development, was ruled unenforceable last month since the time limit had expired. Then the community's sanitary systems were thought to be polluting the Manitowoc River which slices through the small, unincorporated village.

Another study was made by state officials in 1963 and in July, 1964 a second order was issued saying that the waste disposal units constituted a health hazard.

At a special meeting of the Town of Rantoul in August, 1964, a citizens committee was appointed. Chosen to study a solution to the problem and review facilities in other comparable communities were Armand Schwalenberg, Walter Beckert, Kleist, Wunrow and Kasper.

A town sanitary district was favored over incorporating as a village, due to the community's small valuation. A preliminary survey was conducted by Robert E. Lee Engineers, Green Bay, and a petition was filed with the town board. It was signed by more than the required 60 per cent of the property owners involved.

Eighty units were involved and the estimated cost then was $110,000, $32,700 less than the last estimate.

District Established

A sanitary district was established in January, 1965 and the three-man sanitary board elected Kleist as president. His two-year term expired this year and he has been re-elected.

Applications for funds covering 30 per cent of the disposal unit, with the balance to be furnished by special assessments, a federal grant and revenue bonds, were filed with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. On Nov. 1, 1965, the application for the 30 per cent grant was turned down by the Committee on Water Pollution. Only 12 of the 67 applications were granted. The project here was not on the priority list.

During the same month the board had its first contact with

Wants Island Returned to Japan

P-C Editor Expects Sato to Air Resentment of U.S. Okinawa Control

P-C Associate Editor

TOKYO — Americans may consider the visit of Prime Minister Sato to Washington as an image building affair for the Japanese leader whose popularity in polls has been dropping. But the important matter to the Japanese is Okinawa.

A delegation from the Ryukyus came to Tokyo to deliver a demand for the reversion of Okinawa passed by the Ryukyu Legislature. Prime Minister Sato met before his trip with the head of the Democratic Socialist party and the Komei party. And while he carefully worded his phrases in diplomatic language, he seemed to be assured, in the Oriental manner at least, that the Bonin Islands would revert soon, probably before 1970, so that efforts could be concentrated on getting Okinawa back.

The Japanese actually have some amount of sovereignty on paper over Okinawa. But since 1951, the United States has had administrative control.

Post-Crescent Associate Editor Mary Walter is in the Far East as an observer with the Wisconsin Trade Development Mission, a group of 90 state business and industry leaders and their wives.

trol. This administrative control is one of the sore points.

The Japan Federation of Associations issued a report expressing doubt over the legality of the American administrative control because "the extreme loss of legal independence and autonomy" on the part of Okinawa in its relation with U.S. civil administration authorities. It charges that "the people of Okinawa Prefecture of Japan" are having their human rights "basically undermined" since they are not entitled to "trials by their own nationals".

The report also charges there are crimes "indescribable both in character and violence" against nationals on Okinawa by American military personnel. There is "not an iota of reason to make allowances for such criminal conduct in the name of the security of the Far East." The whole thing "seriously impairs our trust in civilization."

The second point of conflict of course are nuclear weapons. Prime Minister Sato has redeclared his promise never to permit them on Japanese soil. But they are already on Okinawa.

Probably no one in responsible position in Japan really believes that the United States will get out of Okinawa while it is fighting in Vietnam. But the sort of agreement which Prime Minister Sato reaches with President Johnson over the Bonins — called Ogasawara here — and some sort of statement on the future of Okinawa may be extremely important to Prime Minister Sato's future in his own government.

Over all, the conflict represents one more strong sign of the growing Asian impatience with American influence. While Prime Minister Sato flies off to Washington, a team of Japanese will head for Peking to try to restore the damage done to trade relations between Japan and Communist China by Mr. Sato's visit last month to Taiwan.

Braun, Peterson Set Pace With 27 Points Each

MARION — A pair of 27-point performances by Jim Braun and Randy Peterson led Marion High School to a 76-62 victory over Bonduel in a non-conference opening game for both teams here Tuesday night.

The Mustangs led the entire game, but a Bonduel surge early in the final stanza left the Bears down by only two points, 52-50, with just over five minutes to play.

Braun then caught fire and scored six straight markers to move Marion into a safe lead it never relinquished.

Tom Belzner paced the Bears with 22 points, while Jim Betzner, Mark Hein and Keith Marohl each reached double figures. Randy West netted 12 for Marion.

Mental Health, Retardation, Alcoholism Waupaca County Delays Decision To Use Shawano Diagnostic Clinic

WAUPACA — The County consult a private psychiatrist, that should receive treatment at a diagnostic center such as the one at Shawano.

Supervisors voted to table the Retardation and alcoholism request that the county purchase the services of a diagnostic clinic from Shawano County. The board of supervisors tabled the issue until the February meeting.

The Shawano County Clinic, furnishes psychiatric treatment for adults and children on an out-patient basis and is supported by the county and state, with the state contributing 40 per cent of the operating costs. Services of the clinic are free, or charges are based on what a family can afford.

Table Resolution

Mayor Lloyd Matheson, who also is a member of the county mental health committee, appeared before the board to ask that supervisors approve a resolution which would permit the county to purchase mental health services from Shawano County. Waupaca County is one of only a few counties of the state that does not provide some type of diagnostic services for alcoholism and marital residents who are unable to problems are definitely ones.

Students Need Help

Beth Lewis, who is employed by the Cooperative Education Service Agency (CESA), explained how in her work in area schools as a public health nurse, she has found a great need for a mental health clinic such as the type being considered. Many students who have mental problems could be helped now instead of waiting until they end up in a mental institution, if county clinic services were provided, Miss Lewis said.

By pooling the efforts of Shawano and Waupaca counties, which is what is being done in other parts of the state, better services and staff can be provided, John Pekarek, of the State Department of Health and Social Services told the board.

In the nine-county area serviced by the Wisconsin Rapids State Health and Social Services office only Waupaca and Wauwasha counties do not provide some type of diagnostic center services for their residents, Pekarek said.

Board members were unanimous in their vote to lay the matter over to the February meeting.

Schmidt Death Still a Mystery

No criminal charges are contemplated in the near future in the death of George A. Schmidt, 53, of the George A. Schmidt death. Frailing held a news conference Tuesday afternoon. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer said Schaefer's office. They discussed aspects of the crime laboratory report — the last from the state agency relative to post-mortem microscopic examination of the dissection of the 82-year-old retired Appleton contractor died in his house at 319 N. Division St. on or about Sept. 22.

Kemps said that on the basis of the findings in the report, he issued a death certificate on a six-block area around his home the week of Sept. 25. Schmidt, whose remains were cremated at Sheboygan last month. Kemp's listed the cause of death as "undetermined."

"We can't prove it was a natural death," he explained. —Kemps said that "small amounts of lead and arsenic" were found in Schmidt's body tissues, but the amounts were not enough to cause death. —Authorities said that although "there are no plans for any further, direct, immediate investigation" into the strange case of the dismembered body. "The case is still open."

Release Certificate —Further crime laboratory reports are expected on "physical evidence" gathered by police.

Dr. Shapiro committee claims it has. Most urged the hill be preserved for the supervisors appeared future generations to enjoy.

He said that areas offering the unusual inspection tour advantages of Mosquito Hill resulted from the controversy, were scarce in this part of the state and it was important they be preserved. Dr. Shapiro added that a reversal has taken place in our society; where it once was acres of land and a new home, predominately rural it is now, had appeared before the county, necessary to bus children from board last Thursday to indicate the cities to the country to show he would not sell his land on the terms nature.

Jane Giesen Hits 570 Pin Series

CHILTON — Jane Giesen highlighted Monday night Major League bowling with a high three-game score of 170. She bowled 202-188-180. Alice Everix rolled the high single game with a 221-135 series.

Other bowlers hitting over 300 were Mary Bloomer 539, Theresa Rozman 523 and Arlene Schroeder 122.

Manorette had the high three-game scratch total for the night of 2,297. Ginny and Joe's Bar had the high single game scratch of 307.

State Bank leads the league 26-4, and Chilton Millwork has the second spot with a 21-9 record.

Arsenic Found

Kemps said the arsenic and lead in Schmidt's body tissues could have consisted of "contamination picked up in the handling and disposing" of the body pieces, most of which were found wrapped in newspapers in the backyard at 319 N. Division St.

"Death by poisoning is ruled out," Kemp's said. There reportedly was a large amount of arsenic found in the Schmidt home.

"This appears to be the final report in the autopsy phase (of the crime laboratory study)," Schaefer said. He did not reveal when the lab report on items found in the house would be released.

Discusses Landromat Voight told the council he has a contract with a repair service to see that the machines are kept in workable order, and that the refund situation is handled by a woman out of the city, who is employed by him for the job.

In other action, the council authorized the city's 1968 fire-fighting agreement with the towns of Brillion and Maple Grove.

Beilke's annual report showed that the town's share in fire department costs for the current year totals $1,636. Seventeen fires occurred in the joint fire district during the past year. A breakdown shows 13 rural fires and one mutual aid call.

The city had one house fire, one car fire, two fires on a scrap truck, four first aid calls and two false alarms, Beilke said.

The council okayed bartender licenses for Randall Moore and Adolph Larson.

A resolution was passed commending the high school football team for its championship play in the Little Nine Conference and for championship leadership team members displayed off the field.

The city will advertise during the Christmas holidays for a summer recreation director, according to a park and recreation committee report. College students home for the holidays would then have a chance to apply for summer work, the committee decided.

Ellwood Hoffman, the new FHA representative, and an application was made for the loan. By this time the project was estimated at $121,600. An option was taken on about two acres of land for the disposal plant.

In April, 1966, the district again was refused funds.

A year later word came that payment of the $60,000 FHA loan would be made April 5 with the $54,600 FHA grant to be paid in two installments in August and October. Kleist said, "I even signed a news release in our attorney's Green Bay office and all the paper work was completed."

Word also was received that the state agency would pay the interest on the loan.

Members of the sanitary board said the completed file is held up in the District Regional Counsel's Office in Chicago.

Rep. William Steiger, R-Wis., told the board recently after he had contacted the regional FHA office in Chicago and the state office in Madison, that the claim was held up because of Calumet County's lack of a comprehensive plan.

In the meantime, board members have accumulated a massive file of correspondence, and how urgent the health hazards in the community are and whether they will be able to meet the April deadline.

'Very Encouraging'

Rosy Outlook Seen By Westmoreland

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland declared today the Vietnam situation is more encouraging than he has seen it in four years in the combat zone.

Arriving for conferences with President Johnson, the Vietnam commander left open the possibility the United States may step up troop deployments in Vietnam to meet a 525,000-man level before the mid-1968 target date.

"Very, very encouraging," was the way Westmoreland portrayed the war effort.

Westmoreland was asked whether the rate of troop deployments would be quickened. "I would like to have them as soon as they can be made available," the four-star general told newsmen. "As to the deployment program, this is not yet firm."

Meets With LBJ
The implication was the troop question will be raised when Westmoreland meets later today with President Johnson, U.S. Ambassador to Vietnam Ellsworth Bunker and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Westmoreland also made clear he opposes any prolonged halt in the bombing of North Vietnam during traditional holiday periods.

"We've had stand-downs the last several years," Westmoreland said. "I'm not happy about the prospect. But we can live with it for short periods."

Westmoreland said the Communists virtually always violate any declared cease-fires.

Still Undecided
Westmoreland added that the question of holiday period bombing pauses or cease-fires is yet to be decided. These matters will also be discussed in this week's discussions.

Westmoreland, arriving here from Saigon via Honolulu, said he would report to the President the Vietnam situation "as I see it."

How is that?
"It is very, very encouraging," he stated. "I have never been more encouraged in my four years in Vietnam."

Diplomats, Military Called to White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has summoned his military and diplomatic leaders to a White House meeting on the Vietnam war—a war he says he wants such a halt at the end could cut even deeper into his public support.

"I may wind up with a poll of too much emphasis should be 1 per cent before it's over placed on the bombing halt sub-with," he is reported to have said recently.

But underlining his determination to pursue his stated goal of peace with honor in Vietnam regardless of public opinion, he used this quote from Lincoln during his last Tuesday night at a White House reception for Prime Minister Eisaku Sato of Japan.

"Let us have faith that right makes might, and let us dare to do our duty as we understand it."

Johnson said "it is taking time and patience to win peace in the world. But it will be won if we have the faith to uphold Lincoln's first principle."

White House press secretary George Christian said the top-level meeting today was expected to include discussion of whether there should be a U.S. halt in bombing of North Vietnam during the year-end holidays.

There have been such halts in waging the war during previous

Dirksen Sees Little Hope for LBJ Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen predicts President Johnson's proposals for a tax hike, crime control legislation and a civil rights bill won't clear Congress this session.

But he said they appear the only doubtful finishers in a dozen major administration proposals he indicated Republicans will help pass before quitting Congress next year.

Dirksen told a news conference Tuesday he thinks Congress can wind up the session Dec. 15 if the members will be "good boys and stay on the job." He said he would push for Dirksen said the Senate may act a delay of the next session's opening until mid-January in that case.

Although he would not say if it up, he would join in it, Dirksen forecast a Senate filibuster if the civil rights bill is brought up. The measure would outlaw the use of force to prevent the exercise by minorities of federally-guaranteed civil rights.

Dirksen repeated his earlier assertions that the House

The U. S. Army evidently considers it as still being in force and as an important indicator of Communist prisoner policy.

The second document carries no heading, but from its context apparently was prepared by the VC to deal mainly with the problem of handling South Vietnamese war prisoners.

"Be tolerant and humane to the POW to prepare him for the instruction," it says. "Do not kill without reason and do not mistreat him in any way or take any personal items away from him."

Wounded enemy soldiers found on battlefields are to be treated "in the same way as other POWs," the document asserts. "Treat the injuries of the wounded if possible."
